Annotated APA Sample Paper and Style Guide for Student Writers (6th Edition)

The introductory section in an American Psychological Association (APA) Style paper establishes the purpose and problem that will be addressed. Where the abstract is a concise summary, the introduction devotes more time to explaining the central concern or problem that the paper engages. The section typically situates the project within the field by providing background information and relevant research or theories that the project will use, build on, test, support, and/or add to. Early on, the section might include one or more longer in-text citations featuring multiple key sources that contextualize the issue. The APA Style Blog 6th Edition Archive offers help with headings (Lee, 2011), tables and figures (Becker, 2016, 2019; Stefanie, 2009), and references (Lee, 2010, 2010). APA Style sample papers that follow 6th edition guidelines are available online (APA, n.d.-a, n.d.-b; Purdue Online Writing Lab, n.d.-a).

Depending on the academic discipline and the type of paper, the introduction might conclude with a hypothesis, a research or guiding question, a problem statement, or something closer to a traditional thesis (e.g., "Doing the work of this paper illustrates/reveals/ suggests/shows something new/important"). In addition to situating this purpose within the field and establishing the objective, the section often briefly discusses the research design and surveys the practical/theoretical implications of the effort.

Literature Review

If your paper includes a separate Literature Review or Background section, it follows the introductory section. A literature review surveys the key scholarship that the project will use, build on, test, support, and/or add to. The aim is to situate readers within the concern or problem that the rest of the paper will engage. The tone should be "professional" and "noncombative": literature reviews should synthesize the themes, findings, and/or methods that past researchers have reported and should identify Indent the first line of each new paragraph in the body of your paper.

APA Style values the date that sources were published. It should be clear why you value older sources.

Publication dates always follow immediately after authors' names.

If you name the author(s) of a text in a sentence, it looks like this:

Lee (2011) noted that X.

If you have summarized what Lee noted, no page number is necessary.

See page 4 in this paper for help with paraphrases and quotations.

Alphabetize multiple sources in a single in-text citation by the first authors' last names (i.e., by the first bit of information each References entry). Separate each source in the [ ] with a semicolon (as shown; p. 178).

Exception: if you cite multiple sources by the same author in a single [ ], offer the author's last name once, order the sources by year of publication, and separate them with commas (p. 178).
