Foundations of Macroecology Felisa A. Smith, John L. Gittleman, James H. Brown, 2014-08-22 Macroecology is an approach to science that emphasizes the description and explanation of patterns and processes at large spatial and temporal scales Some scientists liken it to seeing the forest through the trees giving the proverbial phrase an ecological twist The term itself was first introduced to the modern literature by James H Brown and Brian A Maurer in a 1989 paper and it is Brown s classic 1995 study Macroecology that is credited with inspiring the broad scale subfield of ecology But as with all subfields many modern day elements of macroecology are implicit in earlier works dating back decades even centuries Foundations of Macroecology charts the evolutionary trajectory of these concepts from the species area relationship and the latitudinal gradient of species richness to the relationship between body size and metabolic rate through forty six landmark papers originally published between 1920 and 1998 Divided into two parts Macroecology before Macroecology and Dimensions of Macroecology the collection also takes the long view with each paper accompanied by an original commentary from a contemporary expert in the field that places it in a broader context and explains its foundational role Providing a solid coherent assessment of the history current state and potential future of the field Foundations of Macroecology will be an essential text for students and teachers of ecology alike

Manual of Petrographic Methods Albert Johannsen, 1914 The desire of an increasing number of students for more complete information in regard to modern petrographic microscopic methods than is to be found in any English work on the subject has led excellent elementary and intermediate text books on optical mineralogy and certain portions of most crystallographies and mineralogies are devoted to microcopic methods

A Stability Technique for Evolution Partial Differential Equations Victor A. Galaktionov, Juan Luis Vázquez, 2012-12-06 common feature is that these evolution problems can be formulated as asymptotically small perturbations of certain dynamical systems with better known behaviour Now it usually happens that the perturbation is small in a very weak sense hence the difficulty or impossibility of applying more classical techniques Though the method originated with the analysis of critical behaviour for evolution PDEs in its abstract formulation it deals with a nonautonomous abstract differential equation $U_t = A u + C u + t^{-1} u$ where u has values in a Banach space like an LP space A is an autonomous time independent operator and C is an asymptotically small perturbation so that $C u + t^{-1} u \rightarrow 0$ along orbits $u(t)$ of the evolution in a sense to be made precise which in practice can be quite weak We work in a situation in which the autonomous limit differential equation $ADE U_t = A u$ has a well known asymptotic behaviour and we want to prove that for large times the orbits of the original evolution problem converge to a certain class of limits of the autonomous equation More precisely we want to prove that the orbits of NDE are attracted by a certain limit set Ω of ADE which may consist of equilibria of the autonomous equation or it can be a more complicated object
