

songs. I'm not trying to brag, but I write them, and I don't do a lot of [the videos]. I don't think [youngsters or fans] are aware of those things, which I think would be inspiring for them.

TV: When you were making the video, did you think, "I want this to be as good as the one for 'Thriller'?"

MJ: No, because I know I didn't have the time to create that. There are ideas that are coming up that will be better.

TV: Do you let your kids watch MTV?

MJ: At a certain age I will, not now. They are going to have to live it.

TV: Do you watch TV?

MJ: I love PBS, the Discovery Channel, the Simpsons. I love Steiner Street. I would watch it for hours. But my favorite show is Melrose in the Middle. It reminds me so much of my brothers and me when we were kids.

TV: Which character do you relate to?

MJ: Malcolm. Mainly because he likes to sit in his room, and he doesn't—the K.I. or Banks, he can't adjust to other people's concepts. And I feel like that a lot of times. Then I'm obnoxious. I feel awkward, like that is not where I'm supposed to be.

TV: Which one of your kids is most like you?

MJ: Both, but in different ways. Prince likes to tease, so the point where you want to pull his hair. I always used to tease my sisters all the time.

TV: And Patti?

MJ: She's the tough one.

TV: How do their mother, Debbie Rowe? [A former nurse, she was married to Jackson from 1996 to '99. Jackson was married to his first wife, Lisa Marie Presley, from 1994 to '97.]

MJ: I would do nothing good, she's the Patti is strong like Debbie.

TV: Regarding your 51 concert, there are rumors that you are bankrupt and that that's why you charged high prices for the concert tickets.

MJ: That's ridiculous garbage. They make things up. They're looking for something to write a paper.

TV: With the state of the world right now, you must be concerned for the kids. You were in New York when the terrorist attacked, right?

MJ: Yeah, I got a call from someone that said America's being attacked. I said, "What are you talking about?" They said, "Turn on the news." And I couldn't believe what I saw. And I screamed down the hallway, "Everybody, quick, get up, we're get to go." And everybody got dressed, and we got to the car and drove faster out [than the city].

TV: The attack prompted you to write and produce an all-star recording of the song "What More Can I Give" to benefit the victims. [Mike McCarty, Colbie Corbie, Doug M. Gray, Mariah Carey, Ricky Martin, Gloria Estefan and others are among the artists who took to the project.]

MJ: I was sick over the severity of the attack. I don't know if [Jackson's song] played it too many times, but we went from four to four to eight to 16 songs. And I think... [Continued on page 52.]

THE MAN IN THE MIRROR

for weeks but a lot to do with that.

TV: We hear you are planning to talk to President Bush about the song and its message.

MJ: I talked to [Bush] once. We have a phone call coming up very soon with the president. They told us that they're very proud of what I'm doing and that he will be an honorarium later.

TV: Your intention seemed to be about helping people.

MJ: I've always done that, you know. Because of this [terrorist] attack, everybody is trying to improve. And songs about this kind of stuff. I've done it all my career. "Bad the World," "We Are the World," "Billie Jean the Theme," "Man in the Mirror" about the planet, earth songs. And nobody was doing it but me because that's where my heart is. I can. My biggest dream is to have a children's day, where children can bond with their parents.

TV: Do your children still see every show?

MJ: Everywhere I go.

TV: That will happen when they start school and can't stand to watch?

MJ: I'm going to hold a computer school in the grounds of Neverland. Jackson's never [with other children].

TV: So they're grown up now?

MJ: Yeah, they're very polite now. It's Prince Michael Jackson, the Prince Katherine Michael Jackson. It would be too difficult.

TV: Why do you think you have such an affinity for children?

MJ: I'll tell you exactly when it came from. Because I never had a childhood. When they're in pain, I feel their pain. And when they're in danger, I feel their danger. I have such compassion about the night and the state of our children today. If there was one day where kids could get with parents and bond, this would make such a difference. I'll feel that one day with my father, it would have made a difference in our relationship today—just for one day.

TV: What is your relationship with your father?

MJ: It's much better now. He's a much more person now. He's embraced me a lot more. He's had grandchildren, you know. He has four-year-old grandkids now.

TV: What did your dad think of the concert special? Was he there?

MJ: He was at the show, but my father, if he feels you're doing a great show, he'll just go, "Good show." He won't say, "Oh, you did wonderful." I don't think he knows how to show affection. [Michael looks at Prince, who is standing around the room with a camera but stays on the main, clapping and taking video snapshots on the show.]

MJ: [Smiling] Prince, didn't I impress you on the past, remember?

TV: What else do you want to do with your career?

MJ: I love music. I'm going to do more music and act more. I had the most powerful attack experience in the world in the U.S. I want to be able with Lisa Marie. We are planning a movie together. We should see struggling relationships trying to make it; they get married every evening where they go. With some of the best dancing ever. I'm not joking. Because I see it, that's how [Prince is in Neverland, Mississippi, Prince battles across the main and side of his father's car. Prince stands with Jackson's lap and into their mouth up, while he stands for them.]

TV: Michael Jackson as a father. It is an image we never see. Are you a good father?

MJ: I try my hardest. I try to bring them a lot of love, there's just I don't know the a show, with the whole group—the main, the past. And I give them candy and movies.

PRINCE: [Smiling] And he means.

MJ: And he means. ■
