

“You said to write about what disturbs me, particularly if it bothers no one else.”

For some context, The Help (set in Mississippi in 1963) deals with many themes— not just the civil rights movement for people of color. There are many instances where the film discusses the lack of mental health services (and understanding of human psychology) in the 1960's. Understanding that people viewed depression and homosexuality as imbalances that could be cured with basic methods like one might the common cold is vital to understanding the oppression that women and other minorities faced in addition to blacks. As John Green says in the video clip we are about to watch, the civil rights movement came first for people of color, and then for women and people of the LGBTQ community later. All of these themes come into play in this movie in some small way.
