OECD Reviews of Evaluation and Assessment in Education: Student Assessment in Turkey Kitchen

Hannah, Bethell George, Fordham Elizabeth, Henderson Kirsteen, Li Richard Ruochen, 2019-09-09 Turkey's education system stands out internationally as a success story. In recent decades participation has been vastly expanded becoming universal at lower levels of schooling and outperforming other middle income countries in upper secondary education. However the education system is also marked by disparities with only around half of 15 year olds acquiring the essential competencies they need for life and work. OECD Reviews of Evaluation and Assessment in Education: North Macedonia

OECD, 2019-06-04 The Republic of North Macedonia has made remarkable progress in expanding access to education and strengthening institutional capacity. Yet the majority of young Macedonians leave school without mastering the basic competencies for life and work and students' background continues to influence performance. This review developed in cooperation with UNICEF provides North Macedonia with recommendations to help strengthen its evaluation and assessment system by moving towards a system where assessment provides students with helpful feedback to improve learning. OECD Reviews of Evaluation and Assessment in Education: Serbia Maghnouj Soumaya, Salinas Daniel, Kitchen

It will be of interest to Serbia as well as other countries looking to make more effective use of their evaluation and assessment system to improve quality and equity and result in better outcomes for all students. Reviews

Childhood Education Petr G. Grotewell, Yanus R. Burton, 2008 This book focuses on early childhood education which spans the human life from birth to age 8 Infants and toddlers experience life more holistically than any other age group Social emotional cognitive language and physical lessons are not learned separately by very young children Adults who are most helpful to young children interact in ways that understand that the child is learning from the whole experience not just that part of the experience to which the adult gives attention Although early childhood education does not have to occur in the absence of the parent or primary caregiver this term is sometimes used to denote education by someone other than these the parent or primary caregiver Both research in the field and early childhood educators view the parents as an integral part of the early childhood education process Early childhood education takes many forms depending on the theoretical and educational beliefs of the educator or parent Other terms that is often used interchangeably with early childhood education are early childhood learning early care and early education Much of the first two years of life are spent in the creation of a child s first sense of self or the building of a first identity Because this is a crucial part of children s makeup how they first see themselves how they think they should function how they expect others to function in relation to them early care must ensure that in addition to carefully selected and trained caregivers links with family home culture and home language are a central part of program policy If care becomes a substitute for rather than a support of family children may develop a less than positive sense of who they are and where they come from because of their child care experience OECD Territorial Reviews Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 2002 Canada is composed of three macroregions a southern ribbon with all the important metropolitan areas a zone of rural and non metropolitan adjacent regions and a sub continent of remote northern territories Disparities between these macroregions persist and may even be growing

Opportunities for growth are lost because of these imbalances and also because specific regional advantages are not fully tapped. In many regions weak local governance is hindering the emergence of local grass roots projects. Diffusion of R&D results to SMEs is slow and dialogue between higher education institutions and firms is poor. This report underlines the need for federal agencies and sectoral departments to continuously assess the consistency of their policies with regard to the three macroregions in order to enhance territorial cohesion and better tailor programmes to local conditions. More federal involvement in metropolitan issues notably through negotiated planning could help to institutionalise and strengthen urban policies. This report also emphasises the significant overhauling of rural policies that took place recently. It underlines that in certain areas such as amenities a strategic approach is still to be defined. Resolving governance issues is a priority in the north.

Educational Comment, 1971 OECD Territorial Reviews, 2002

The Tzoumerka is a mountainous area in Northwestern Greece that presents considerable development challenges with respect to economic growth, social cohesion and governance. The area is highly dependent on traditional agricultural activities that are only made viable by considerable Common Agricultural Policy (CAP) support. Unfortunately this support will almost inevitably decline. As incentives to modernise agricultural activities and promote other business activity have been ineffective, local development policy will need to go farther. It must direct the local population away from old survival activities.
