

MAXIM High-Frequency Waveform Generator

MAX9339

General Description

The MAX9339 is a high-frequency, precision, self-contained waveform generator designed to generate high-frequency (up to 100MHz), sine, square, and pulse waveforms and a nonreciprocal delay with precision. The MAX9339 can be configured over an operating range of 0.1Hz to 100MHz for an internal 3.3V supply or with a reference and an external voltage and frequency. The MAX9339 can be used over a wide range by setting a 1.2MHz crystal input, generating pulse-width modulated (PWM) and the generation of a square wave at the frequency multiplier and frequency divider. It is designed to be used with the delay input and frequency divider independent.

Wave output is through transformer or low impedance (50Ω) load by setting the appropriate value of the TTL-compatible output drive. The output signal has an amplitude of 0.5Vpp or more when the ground is connected. The non-reciprocal delay input can drive up to 50pF load.

The TTL-compatible delay input signal from the internal pulse generator is used, delay input independent of the delay input of the delay generator. The MAX9339 also includes a delay divider to the output. The internal generator can be configured to an external TTL input (external delay).
