Daniel Carroll R., 2020-11-19 In this commentary on the book of Amos Daniel Carroll combines a detailed reading of the Hebrew text with attention to its historical background and current relevance What makes this volume unique is its special attention to Amos s literary features and what they reveal about the book s theology and composition Instead of reconstructing a hypothetical redactional history this commentary offers a close reading of the canonical form against the backdrop of the eighth century BCE

Ritual and Religious Experience in Early Christianities David John McCollough, 2022-09-19 In this volume David John McCollough challenges the common assumptions that Paul thought the Spirit was communicated through water baptism that justification was non experiential and unrelated to ritual that Luke was incoherent or a poor editor and that water baptism was the cardinal initiation rite among early Christianities

Reconsidering the Book of the Four Nicholas R. Warse, 2019-05-20 Although many scholars recognize literary similarities between Hosea Amos Micah and Zephaniah defining the compositional relationship between these texts remains a matter of debate Following the scholarly trajectory of exploring the compositional relationship between the Twelve prophets several scholars argue that these four prophetic texts formed a precursory collection to the Book of the Twelve Yet even among advocates for this Book of the Four there remain differences in defining the form and function of the collection By reexamining the literary parallels between these texts Warse shows how different methodological convictions have led to the diverse composition models in the field today Through careful consideration of emerging insights in the study of deuteronism and scribalism Wense provides an innovative composition model explaining how these four texts came to function as a collection in the wake of the traumatic destruction of Jerusalem This volume explores a historic function of these prophetic voices by examining the editorial process that drew them together Source Book of Educational Materials for Medical Radiographers United States.
