Story Starters and Science Notebooking Sandy Buczynski,Kristin Fontichiaro,2009-05-19 Story Starters and Science Notebooking Developing Student Thinking Through Literacy and Inquiry is designed to provide a meaningful comfortable framework in which teachers and parents can encourage elementary children to explore scientific ideas in an inquiry oriented format The basis for each scientific concept presented in Story Starters and Science Notebooking is embedded in a story appropriate for elementary aged children The activity that follows each narrative encourages learners to observe compare gather data organize or classify and draw conclusions about the problem posed from the story Because current scientific knowledge and understanding guide scientific investigations background information in each chapter provides teachers with a synopsis of the scientific concept involved in the activity for that story The story starters present a framework for inquiry which eliminates the free wheeling uncontrolled and unstructured view some teachers have of inquiry These are either original stories or familiar children's stories that ask learners to investigate a possible scientific explanation for a problem or scenario. Learners then communicate their findings in an oral, written, pictorial, or technological form back to a lead character from the story. Extension activities provide an opportunity for learners to compare their answers with what scientists already know about the world and also motivate them to frame new questions. Grades 3-6

Reading Assessment in Practice, 1995. Elementary school teachers who use performance-based assessment techniques in their classrooms show how they apply them to reading assessment. Includes resources that allow further study of the topic. The GMAT Advantage, with Professor Dave David Scalise, Professor Dave, 2003. Annual Summary of Investigations Relating to Reading Sam Weintraub, 1997-06. The summaries are grouped according to subject of the investigation. Summaries are brief and designed as a tool to find appropriate research rather than as replacements for reading the published articles.

Learning and Instruction Margaret E. Gredler, 1997. Learning and Instruction contains comprehensive coverage of all learning theory perspectives from behavioral to cognitive to social constructivist. Gredler's text takes a models approach by presenting separate chapters on individual theories and perspectives such as Piaget, Weiner, and Bandura. Each major theory chapter now contains a new section titled Relationships to Other Perspectives that compares and contrasts each perspective with other theories of learning. This edition now includes a current examination of neuroscience's contributions to learning theories. The new Chapter 10 clarifies the concepts in Vygotsky's theory specifically the role of the teacher and subject matter learning in cognitive development. The text very clearly translates basic assumptions and principles into understandable guidelines for classroom instruction.

Annual Summary of Investigations Relating to Reading, July 1, 1995 to June 30, 1996 International Reading Association, Newark, DE., 1997. This book, the 72nd and last in the annual series, summarizes approximately 500 reports of reading research identified between July 1, 1995 and June 30, 1996. The research studies in the book are categorized into 6 major areas: 1) summaries of reading research, 2) teacher preparation and practice, 3) sociology of reading, 4) physiology and psychology of reading, 5) the teaching of reading, and 6) reading of atypical learners. All but the first category in the book are further subcategorized and individual studies within subcategories are grouped by subject. An author index and a list of journals monitored conclude the book. RS

Reading Relationships Nancy Jo Brown, 1999. Based on the premise that good thinkers make good readers, this developmental reading text emphasizes the connections fundamental to achieving comprehension. Combining critical thinking and reading skills, students master these relationships as a foundation on which to build additional skills. Extensive coverage of main ideas complements the strong coverage of basic skills in Part 1, and five longer reading selections in Part 2 provide students with opportunities to apply their skills.
