

Activity 10

Reading: Genetic Variation in Cornelian Worksho and genetic variation in genetics (complete each of the following questions, demonstrating your understanding of the concepts discussed in the lesson)

1. Match each of the following changes in DNA sequence structure to its definition:

A. Deletion

B. Duplication

C. Inversion

D. Translocation

1. a section of a chromosome is inserted

2. a piece of a chromosome is deleted

3. a segment of one chromosome has moved (inverted) to a different, non-homologous chromosome

4. a section of a chromosome appears to be on one chromosome but is not

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with four chromosomes pairs? Describe your answer.

Match the number of genetically different gametes that can be produced to each of 2ⁿ where n is total number chromosomes pairs, a diploid cell with four chromosomes pairs can produce gametes of 2⁴ or 16 genetically different gametes

3. Although you will learn a mechanism of mutation that causes gene mutations, you may notice that some mutations cause the loss of function of a protein. For example, both colour and eye colour's ability may cause both the red colour together?

Both mutations resulted together and found in the same chromosome. Therefore, they are independent assortment alleles, and a heterozygous-diploid only cause either red colour or white colour. Since both will be found with same allele resulting in the gametes, white mutation will be inherited together.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write the equations:

Homologous I chromosomes align and homologous chromosomes align together, called synapsis. This is a synapsis because it shows the pairing between sister and results in two double chromosomes.

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomes with different alleles? Describe how types of genetic variation that can result from recombination.
