Demystifying Academic Writing in Higher Education: A Process View on Academic Textual Production Xinghua Liu, Rui Alexandre Alves, Angelique Aitken, Josef Schmied, 2025-10-30 Academic writing in this Research Topic refers to the type of writing demonstrating students disciplinary knowledge of and proficiency in synthesizing analyzing and responding critically to new information Hyland 2004 Swales 1990 which may include those genres like course essays project reports research proposals lab notes journal articles conference paper theses and dissertations As the current workplaces have become increasingly specialized higher education worldwide has been increasingly charged with the task of developing students academic writing and correspondingly on students parts learning through writing has been necessary for them to succeed in higher education To prepare university students for writing challenges during the past decades numerous studies have been devoted to the study of linguistic and rhetorical resources in students academic writing under such umbrella terms like style reader awareness authorial voice writers identity stance evaluation textual structures steps and moves Charles Hunston Hinkel 2002 However previous research on academic writing has been predominantly focused on the linguistic and rhetorical aspects namely the final product of students writing while the nature and processes of composition students engagement and individual differences and the influence of contextual factors like emerging technology have been under explored Thus the goal of this Research Topic is to bring a process oriented and dynamic perspective to the study of textual production in academic contexts by both encouraging an expanded view of existing research paradigms and also welcoming novel approaches Data can be collected by using corpus building interviews and questionnaires but we would also welcome the use of experimental methods and a mixed method approach for data collection Meanwhile previous research mainly studied university students who were learning English as a second or foreign language hence we also welcome research examining first language writers and students who are learning a second or foreign language other than English We believe for the study of the complex phenomenon like academic writing no single method or tool can suffice Therefore we strongly recommend a more creative perspective in data collection and analyzing and interpreting academic writing Papers can present quantitative data analyses based on experimental design or qualitative data analyses stemmed from more ethnographic oriented research Systematic review studies are also welcome We encourage contributions related but not restricted to the following topics

- 1 Cognitive processes in academic texts planning composing and revisions and student writers individual differences
- 2 Metacognition and self regulation in academic texts planning composing and revisions and student writers individual differences
- 3 Motivation and self efficacy in academic texts planning composing and revisions and student writers individual differences
- 4 Linguistic and rhetorical choices identity construction and disciplinary knowledge construction
- 5 Student writers textual production peer feedback and interactions with discourse communities
- 6 Affordances and challenges of artificial intelligence AI in the process of academic textual production in higher education

Research Literacies and Writing Pedagogies for Masters and Doctoral Writers Cecile Badenhorst, Cally Guerin, 2015-10-20 Debates about researcher education emphasise the dramatic changes facing higher education in the twenty first century Post graduate students must learn often hidden research literacies with very limited support Research Literacies and Writing Pedagogies for Masters and Doctoral Writers explores the challenges students face when engaging in research writing The chapters offer insights into effective pedagogies ranging from direct scaffolded instruction to peer learning in face to face and online interventions Themes extend from genre approaches threshold concepts and publishing pedagogies through to the emotional aspects of post graduate writing writing groups peer learning and relational collaborations employing both online and digital technologies Throughout authors have revealed how research literacies and writing pedagogies in situated contexts around the globe demonstrate practices that are constantly changing in the face of personal institutional and broader influences With contributions from Nick Almond Cecile Badenhorst Agnes Bosanquet Marcia Z Buell Jayde Cahir Mary Davies Turner Robert B Desjardins

"Is it Done Yet?" Barry Gilmore, 2007 Beyond all the wise and practical advice Gilmore offers there is another reason why I love this book it's funny and fun to read Though the author writes with great authority he never places himself above the reader Indeed he uses humorous anecdotes from his personal life and classroom to humble himself and create a sense of joy even as he tackles a subject of dread for most English teachers Barry Lane Author of After the End Why do so many students resist revision Maybe because it feels to them like starting over like an indictment of their first draft or a rejection of their ideas Encouraging teens to see revision as process rather than criticism as the bridge between generating ideas and finalizing their work for publication is crucial to their growth and success as thoughtful adult writers With Is It Done Yet Barry Gilmore helps you push your writers toward a new realistic understanding of revision while offering proven ways to overcome student resistance Is It Done Yet takes a new refreshing look at revision It acknowledges that while writing manuals often suggest general guidelines for writing few target the specific and recurring issues of style and argumentation that students typically encounter in their assignments Gilmore offers a variety of practical strategies for incorporating revision at all stages of the writing process especially in content and style as well as in numerous genres including literary analysis on demand writing and the college entrance essay He goes beyond marking up grammar and spelling differentiates editing from revising and presents a multifaceted approach that moves students toward an understanding of revision as a process that helps them write fluently and communicate more effectively All the while Gilmore will help you change your own sense of revision so that you can use it to match up student needs with specific instructional focuses Humorous practical and accessible Is It Done Yet includes classroom samples of student writing and revision a thorough description of Gilmore's step by step process for incorporating powerful revision lessons and ready to use activities that engage students and support your teaching In addition with chapters on peer and class revision revision in creative writing and using technology during revision he gives you everything you need to get kids

revising and develop their maturity as writers to help them complete papers with pride confidence and craft

Critical Thinking and Writing Kristan Cavina,1995 While some writing books present isolated examples of critical thinking Cavina s Critical Thinking and Writing systematically links concepts of critical thinking and writing through all phases of the writing process By emphasizing those concepts that are of the greatest use to writers and by treating these concepts sequentially the book maximizes your understanding of how critical thinking can sharpen your writing Critical Thinking and Writing begins in Part One with a clear outline of the rhetorical writing process and how it relates to the notion of critical thinking In Parts Two and Three you will focus on the specifics of sentence construction and word usage Part Four includes readings by professional and student writers that offer a multitude of perspectives and topic coverage Taking a discovery approach Critical Thinking and Writing encourages you to expand and reinforce your writing skills through many individual and collaborative activities

Strategies for Successful Writing James A. Reinking,Andrew W. Hart,1996 Discovering Ideas Jean Wyrick,1987 Discovering Ideas is designed to help students find new techniques and strategies they can analyze and then incorporate into their own writing It is also a collection of essays stories and poems carefully selected to help writers discover new ideas and create opinions that they want to talk and write about By simultaneously providing models of good writing and provocative challenging ideas Discovering Ideas should help teachers guide their students from analytical reading to thoughtful discussions and ultimately to the writing of their own insightful essays

The Writing Process John M. Lannon,David B. Parsons,2004 Appropriate for university level composition and essay writing courses This practical and accessible writing guide unravels the complexities of writing by presenting the writing process as a series of critical thinking decisions In addition to coverage of the traditional modes the text offers practice in analyzing the unique rhetorical requirements of any writing situation by showing how audience and purpose influence writing Student and professional readings throughout the text including fiction poetry advertisements memoirs and cartoons illustrate various writing strategies
