1.1 Write a program that asks the user to enter a number of seconds and works as follows: • There are 60 seconds in a minute. If the number of seconds entered by the user is greater than or equal to 60, the program should convert the number of seconds to minutes and seconds.

• There are 3,600 seconds in an hour. If the number of seconds entered by the user is greater than or equal to 3,600, the program should convert the number of seconds to hours, minutes, and seconds.

• There are 86,400 seconds in a day. If the number of seconds entered by the user is greater than or equal to 86,400, the program should convert the number of seconds to days, hours, minutes, and seconds.

```python
def convert_seconds(seconds):
    # Calculate days, hours, minutes, and remaining seconds
    days = seconds // 86400
    seconds %= 86400
    hours = seconds // 3600
    seconds %= 3600
    minutes = seconds // 60
    seconds %= 60

    # Print the result
    if days > 0:
        print(f"{days} days, {hours} hours, {minutes} minutes, {seconds} seconds")
    elif hours > 0:
        print(f"{hours} hours, {minutes} minutes, {seconds} seconds")
    elif minutes > 0:
        print(f"{minutes} minutes, {seconds} seconds")
    else:
        print(f"{seconds} seconds")

def main():
    try:
        # Get user input
        seconds = int(input("Enter the number of seconds: "))
