(Chapter – 15) (Body Fluids and Circulation)

(Class – XI)

Reptilian heart

Reptiles have incomplete four-chambered hearts, except for crocodiles, alligators, and *gharial*s. They have only one accessory chamber called sinus venosus. The reptilian heart also shows mixed blood circulation.

Avian and mammalian hearts

They have two pairs of chambers for separating oxygenated and deoxygenated bloods. The heart is divided into four chambers. The upper two chambers are called atria and the lower two chambers are called ventricles. The chambers are separated by a muscular wall that prevents the mixing of the blood rich in oxygen with the blood rich in carbon dioxide.

Question 9:

Why do we call our heart myogenic?

Answer 9:

In the human heart, contraction is initiated by a special modified heart muscle known as sinoatrial node. It is located in the right atrium. The SA node has the inherent power of generating a wave of contraction and controlling the heartbeat. Hence, it is known as the pacemaker. Since the heart beat is initiated by the SA node and the impulse of contraction originates in the heart itself, the human heart is termed myogenic. The hearts of vertebrates and molluscs are also myogenic.

Question 10:

Sino-atrial node is called the pacemaker of our heart. Why?

Answer 10:

The sino-atrial (SA) node is a specialised bundle of neurons located in the upper part of the right atrium of the heart. The cardiac impulse originating from the SA node triggers a sequence of electrical events in the heart, thereby controlling the sequence of muscle contraction that pumps blood out of the heart. Since the SA node initiates and maintains the rhythmicity of the heart, it is known as the natural pacemaker of the human body.
