In Judging Insanity Punishing Difference Chlo Deambrogio explores how developments in the field of forensic psychiatry shaped American courts assessments of defendants mental health and criminal responsibility over the course of the twentieth century During this period new psychiatric notions of the mind and its readability legal doctrines of insanity and diminished culpability and cultural stereotypes about race and gender shaped the ways in which legal professionals mental health experts and lay witnesses approached mental disability evidence especially in cases carrying the death penalty Using Texas as a case study Deambrogio examines how these medical legal and cultural trends shaped psycho legal debates in state criminal courts while shedding light on the ways in which experts and lay actors interpretations of pathological mental states influenced trial verdicts in capital cases She shows that despite mounting pressures from advocates of the rehabilitative penology Texas courts maintained a punitive approach towards defendants allegedly affected by severe mental disabilities while allowing for moralized views about personalities habits and lifestyle to influence psycho legal assessments in potentially prejudicial ways Science Spectrum Holt Rinehart & Winston,Holt, Rinehart and Winston Staff,2003-03

Carefully reconsidering how and why black students have come to equate school success with whiteness Integration Interrupted argues that when students understand race to be connected with achievement it is a powerful lesson conveyed by schools not their peers Drawing on over ten years of ethnographic research Karolyn Tyson shows how equating school success with acting white arose in the aftermath of Brown v Board of Education through the practice of curriculum tracking and shows how racialized tracking continues to define the typical American secondary school Equity, Efficiency and Evolutionary Stability in Bargaining Games with Joint Production Manfred Königstein, 2012-12-06 Result 1 10 Simple equity standards were superior to more complex ones even though the latter might be economically more relevant Result 1 11 Equity based on quantity input and return output was most successful and received a hit rate of almost 1 within a range of 10% i.e. within a distance of 5% of the predicted share Result 1 12 A substantial share of observations is consistent with egalitarian considerations 1 7 Summary The study investigates the predictive power of equity theory and strategic concepts within ultimatum bargaining with advance production This is different from many other experimental studies on non cooperative bargaining games since usually the resource to be distributed between the subjects is given by the experimenter Here the pie is produced via joint production effort This scenario is more general than bargaining without production and we think it is more natural as well The description of the raw data showed that the production choices are considerably dispersed but nevertheless systematically biased toward the respective player's efficient production level The distributions of demanded return shares and demanded surplus shares partly replicated findings of other studies namely a low percentage of high demands and a considerable proportion of equal surplus splits But they also indicate that advance production compared to no production should be considered an important treatment in studies on ultimatum bargaining

Teacher-made Tests John A. Green, 1963 India Rubber World and Electrical Trades Review, 1921 Journal of Educational Psychology, 1921 Modern Methods in High School Teaching Harl Roy Douglass, 1926 This volume addresses teachers and principals presenting a comprehensive treatment of the methods of teaching in high schools The author assumes a familiarity on the part of his readers with the nature of the learning process adolescence and the psychological foundations of interests and motives as they relate to wholehearted pupil activity The fundamentals of both theory and practice are set forth and an attempt has been made to outline and describe the newer types of procedure which are being employed in different subjects in the best secondary schools Throughout the volume the attempt has been made clearly to represent practices rather than to advocate their adoption The reader is permitted to draw his own conclusions The book will appeal to the type of reader who wants to be intelligent about what is going on in high school teaching traits and qualities Traditional methods were criticised and improvements suggested in the technique of applying and interpreting them An endeavor was also made to communicate a general understanding of the principles underlying the methods of mental measurement This revised edition not only combines the materials of the two earlier volumes but seeks also to incorporate in survey fashion the more recent developments in the field of vocational psychology Several entirely new topics have also been introduced in the form of added chapters Bibliographies are provided in topical form so that readers particularly interested in any of the special fields may be guided in their further study PsycINFO Database Record c 2005 APA all rights reserved Measurement and Evaluation of Learning Arnold J.
