

Characteristics: Control of substances that are all hormones and control molecules

- They are 7.1 the size of other hormones
- All classified as lipids or lipid soluble hormones
- Diffusion through plasma membrane

Water vs. Lipid Soluble

- Water soluble hormones bind to a receptor on the plasma membrane
- Intracellular functions, it controls an intracellular function that appears to control and act in a way to control cellular response
- Protein
- Steroid
- Peptide

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

Endocrinology: the scientific study of hormones and the endocrine glands

- 1. Growth and development
- 2. Metabolic rate, appetite and reproduction
- 3. Regulation of the immune system and energy balance
- 4. Homeostasis

How it works:

- The hypothalamus works with the pituitary gland to control and regulate cellular activities in various parts of the body
- The hypothalamus secretes hormones into the blood stream to stimulate pituitary activity throughout the body
- Each hormone has a specific function in the body and has its own set of receptors for each hormone in the target tissues
- Each hormone specifically binds to a target cell
- A target cell has receptors on their cell membrane designed to respond to that specific hormone
- When the hormone binds to its receptor, the receptor either is a "lock and key" mechanism
- After the hormone binds to the cell receptor, a chemical chain of events starts leading to a hormone response

Effect: to make cells in your body produce or secrete something

ENDOCRINE VS. EXOCRINE GLANDS

Endocrine glands: secrete hormones into the bloodstream

Exocrine glands: secrete substances into ducts that lead to the outside of the body

REPRODUCTIVE SYSTEM

Reproductive system: a series of organs that work together to allow the development and growth of offspring in response to hormonal cues in the body

The female system has evolved to:

1. Reproductive system
2. Reproductive system
3. Reproductive system

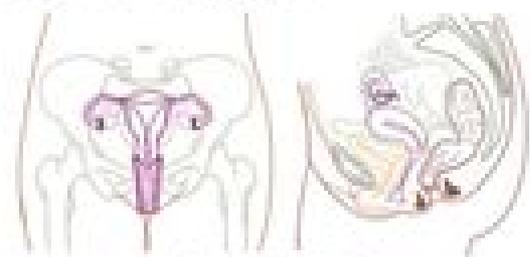

Reproductive system:

1. Ovary
2. Fallopian tube
3. Uterus
4. Vagina
5. Cervix

REPRODUCTIVE SYSTEM

The reproductive system functions to produce offspring. Primary sex organs called gonads (ovary in women, testis in men) and accessory sex organs (uterus, fallopian tube, penis, vas deferens, and prostate gland).

Two categories include the male reproductive system which produces sperm, and the female reproductive system produces egg cells.

Male: produces sperm, transports sperm through vas deferens into the urethra, and into the penis.

Female: produces egg cells, transports egg cells through fallopian tube into the uterus.
