Activities Linking Science with Math, K-4 John Eichinger, 2009-05-15 Science does not exist in a vacuum and therefore shouldn't be taught that way. In that spirit, Activities Linking Science With Math K 4 is a hands-on guide for preservice and inservice elementary school teachers who want to connect science instruction with other areas of study, including visual arts, social sciences, language arts, and especially math.

Making Origami Toys Step by Step Michael G. LaFosse, 2001-12-15 Imagine how delighted kids will be to make their own toys. Through clear step-by-step instructions, this book shows students how to make origami darts, spinners, and even an origami jumping frog. This engaging book also teaches kids how to play different games using their homemade ten pins or scoopy ball.

Lessons Using Learning Bags for Math, Grades 1-2 Diane Nees, 2006-03-28 Store math materials for unique learning activities inside attractive gift bags and watch students dig into them with gusto.

Frogs and Toads Thematic Unit Wendy Conklin, 2001-04 Frogs and Toads is a fun-filled 80-page thematic unit designed to immerse children in writing, poetry, language arts, science, math, social studies, music, and art.

Primary Science for the Caribbean Raphael Douglass, Trevor Garcia, 1997 Covers primary science for the infant and junior years with emphasis based on activity-based learning.

Aesthetics, Affect, and Making Meaning in Science Education Per-Olof Wickman, Vaughan Prain, Russell Tytler, 2025-02-12 This book offers novel approaches, theoretical insights, and results on the development of students and teachers' interest in science as situated learning. It argues for the importance of the affective and emotional dimensions of teaching and learning in STEM classrooms, in parallel to the cognitive dimensions. Contributions to this book examine aesthetics, aesthetic judgement, and aesthetic experience in science education from the perspectives of researchers and practitioners and make a case for integrating aesthetics and affective experiences in science education teaching and learning research and practice. They explore how an aesthetics of science can empirically be observed to take shape through classroom interactions and how such interactions influence learning and how science is valued in aesthetic terms in relation to other practices. The research studies featured in this book span from preschool to undergraduate students and also include a theoretical contribution reviewing and synthesising the methodological contributions to this volume. They draw on recent theoretical, methodological, and empirical advances on the role of aesthetic experience for learning science. These new developments are used to investigate how a disciplinary aesthetics of science can be developed and can meet that of other subjects and how these various aesthetic practices may be generatively dovetailed for the benefit of learning science and developing an interest in science. This book's contribution extends beyond the fields of science education research. Its insights can assist policymakers, instructional designers, and teacher educators in considering emotional aspects of learning and values more generally when implementing strategies to foster meaning-making alongside sense-making. It was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Science Education.
