1. Match each of the following changes in DNA sequence structure to its definition:

A. Deletion

B. Duplication

C. Inversion

D. Translocation

(a) a section of a chromosome is inserted

(b) a piece of a chromosome is deleted

(c) a large section of a chromosome has moved (inverted) to a different part of the chromosome

(d) a section of a chromosome appears to be on one chromosome but is on another

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with four chromosomes pairs? Describe your answer.

There are 16 genetically different gametes that can be produced because in a diploid cell there are four chromosome pairs. Each pair can be passed on to a gamete in two ways (one or two chromosomes from the pair).

3. Although you will learn a classification of mutations this evening, you may notice that some mutations cause the loss of function of a protein. For example, both colour and eye shape may be lost. How do these two mutations together?

These mutations are linked together and occur on the same chromosome. Therefore, they are inherited together and a mutation in one gene may cause both eye shape and colour mutations. These mutations will be inherited together and result in the same phenotype. Mutations may not be inherited together.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write the equations:

Homologous chromosomes I chromosomes crossing and homologous chromosomes align together - called synapsis. This is a synapsis because it shows the crossing over between sister and results in two double chromosomes.

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomes with different numbers? Describe two types of genetic variation that can result from recombination.
