Title: A Phenomenological Pilot Study of Energy Healers Expertise and Recommendations for Energetic Disaster and Trauma Relief Training

Introduction

In order to effectively and consistently provide energetic disaster relief treatments for humanitarian disasters, there needs to be a training program to train volunteers and local social service providers. Few studies have focused on how to adequately and effectively integrate and train people in the knowledge of different energy systems in disaster relief. Some trauma relief organizations such as The Trauma Relief Committee of the Association of Thought Field Therapy, Green Cross Association of Traumatic Stress Specialists, Common Bond Institute--Catastrophic Trauma Recovery Project (CTR) and others, have had much success providing training and co-ordinating teams of practitioners to deploy to assist victims and workers in need during incidents of trauma and disaster. The Association of Comprehensive Energy Psychology (ACEP) has provided initial relief work and training on a volunteer basis to local service providers during disasters (Feinstein, 2008). Despite the effective use of energy psychology in Singapore, Sri Lanka, and Indonesia by ACEP members, no comprehensive training program or organizational structure exists to train a core of dedicated trainers for this type of work. The ACEP Humanitarian Committee has been tasked with developing a training model of best practices and how to move forward (Bulbrook, 2009).

A study that addresses/defines energetic disaster and trauma relief training is important for several reasons. First, it brings the strengths of many energy systems to the field in the aftermath of trauma and disasters. Second, it compiles a diverse wealth of potentially meaningful information/data from numerous experts in their respective fields that can be used to create a training program for relief workers in energetic disaster relief. Finally, it brings this information to a wider audience of practitioners and organizations to assist them in the development of their own training programs in disaster relief.

Purpose of the Study --the purpose of this phenomenological study is to explore and understand through the obtaining of information from key participants in their respective energy systems, what they can contribute to energetic disaster and trauma relief training. The overall aim of this

Handbook of Feminist Research Sharlene Nagy Hesse-Biber, 2007

The topic feminist research has too often been neglected in standard research methods books

The Handbook of Feminist Research represents the establishment of a new tradition or paradigm in viewing how the research process is implemented

Feminist researchers bring unique epistemological and methodological perspectives to the research process

Feminists approach to methodology allows for new types of questions about women's lives and those of other marginalized groups to be addressed within their respective fields of research

This Handbook stresses the interconnections between epistemology methodology and methods

They are not de-linked from each other but work together in dynamic ways to produce new knowledge and this openness itself is also characteristic of how feminist researchers approach their work

Feminists engage synergistically with all three aspects of the research process epistemology methodology and method

Through a synergistic connection between these elements of research epistemology methodology and method we find that feminist research often shapes new research endeavors that are greater than the sum of their parts

In other words while traditional research employs these components of research the synergistic engagement of these components in feminist research questions the status quo aiming to raise our consciousness about how we do research

Looking at the selections provided in this Handbook we are able to look at feminist research its implementation of synergistic use of epistemology methodology and method and the resulting qualities of feminist research in practice

A Rhetoric for the Social Sciences Kristine Hansen, 1998

This book provides social science majors with a systematic way of learning to write in their fields

It is based on the assumption that such writing is not a mechanical process but a kind of rhetoric social scientists use to persuade each other of the validity of their research

KEY TOPICS Features comprehensive coverage of research methods including how to plan and propose original research how to gather data or evidence from sources and how to document it

It goes beyond the typical survey of library tools and offers a brief chapter on how to use the Internet as a research tool
