and friends of people with a problem with alcohol or drug addiction Al-Anon Narratives Grazyna Zajdow,2002-08-30 According to the author in Australia men drink alcohol as a mark of masculinity and women take care of drinking men as a part of normative femininity And while research on alcoholics and alcoholism is common very few studies consider the lives of the women who are married to alcoholics Here Zajdow details and explores the lives of such women who belong to Al Anon where they may share their experiences and offer their stories in a nonthreatening and supportive environment The author presents the narratives of these women in the context of her analysis of the self help group to demonstrate how people construct and reconstruct their lives as coherent stories about themselves and to show how these self stories can be changed and reconceptualized within the context of the group Unique in its examination of self stories offered within a self help group this book challenges sociological knowledge about the way these mutual aid groups operate as communities of interest and help Zajdow begins by laying the groundwork through a discussion of the professional and lay discourses on women s relationships to alcoholic men She then provides the basis for using self stories to examine a group of people the individuals in the group and the behavior of the group in general A history of Al Anon as a self help group is also detailed and the author compares the Australian meetings to meetings in other parts of the world The stories themselves are then examined and discussed in terms of how they relate to group processes and individual change through Al Anon Tracing the way that these women move from a place of despair to one of hope and meaningful change this also represents a sociological exploration of gender families and communities
