Summary of Recommendations for LTBI Testing

Group*	Testing strategy	Considerations
Likely to be infected High risk of progression (TST \geq 5 mM)	Adults Acceptable: IGRA or TST Consider dual testing, in which a positive result from either would be considered positive† Children \leq 5 years Preferred: TST Acceptable: IGRA or TST Consider dual testing, in which a positive result from either would be considered positive†	Prevalence of bacillus Calmette-Guérin vaccination Expertise of staff or laboratory Test availability Patient and staff perceptions Programmatic concerns
Likely to be infected Low to intermediate risk of progression (TST \geq 10 mM)	Preferred: IGRA where available Acceptable: IGRA or TST
Unlikely to be infected (TST $>$ 15 mM)	Testing for LTBI is not recommended If necessary: Preferred: IGRA where available Acceptable: IGRA or TST For serial testing Acceptable: IGRA or TST Consider repeat or dual testing, in which a negative result from either would be considered negative‡

IGRA = interferon-gamma release assay; LTBI = latent tuberculosis infection; TST = tuberculin skin test.

*—These groups are determined on the risk for infection with tuberculosis and risk of progression and benefit of therapy.

†—Performing a second diagnostic test when the initial test is negative is a strategy to increase sensitivity. This may reduce specificity, but the panel decided that this is an acceptable trade-off in situations in which the consequences of missing LTBI (i.e., not treating persons who may benefit from therapy) exceed the consequences of inappropriate therapy (i.e., hepatotoxicity).

‡—Performing a confirmatory test following an initial positive result is based on the evidence that false-positive results are common among persons who are unlikely to be infected with Mycobacterium tuberculosis and the committee's presumption that performing a second test in those patients whose initial test result was positive will help identify initial false-positive results.
