Exam-style question answers

The answers given for exam-style questions of an explanatory or evaluative kind set out what is called 'indicative content guidance'. Just showing the examiner you are familiar with some or most of the content is not enough. You need to demonstrate that you understand it and are willing and able to use it in a way that directly addresses the question. The indicative content shown for each question is not exhaustive. Questions may be approached in a number of different ways. The choice of approach is yours. Just make sure your approach answers the question.

5–6 marks

A good description of a process with many indicative content points including balanced symbol equations.

There is a sustained line of reasoning that is coherent, relevant, substantiated and logically structured. The candidate uses appropriate scientific terminology and accurate spelling, punctuation and grammar.
