governance and functioning of organisations and companies In addition Agency Theory is used to explore relations between stakeholders in politics and the economy This study first elaborates upon the applicability of Principal Agent Theory in POEs in Kosovo and then identifies the presence of principal agent problems and identifies the nexus between such problems and poor performance of POEs Identification of principal agent problems may help to identify the reason for poor performance of POEs and the lack of transparency accountability and supervision POEs are subsidised by the state on an annual basis which makes the identification of problems in having profitable POEs important for public interests too Such importance is due not only to the fact that POEs are financed by taxpayers but also to the fact that they are supposed to provide services in public interests by being self sustainable and profitable for the government as a shareholder The study aims to conclude that principal agent problems such as capture rent seeking moral hazard information asymmetry and adverse selection are present in POEs in Kosovo and that they have a negative impact on their performance Such principal agent problems and their negative performance may also be influenced by gaps in legislation and weak law enforcement

The Commercial and Financial Chronicle ,1923 Commercial and Financial Chronicle Bankers Gazette, Commercial Times, Railway Monitor and Insurance Journal ,1878 Application of ARMA and GARCH models to the daily gold and silver exchange prices in US dollar Van Anh Hoang,2016-04-21 Seminar paper from the year 2016 in the subject Business economics Banking Stock Exchanges Insurance Accounting grade 1 7 European University Viadrina Frankfurt Oder Lehrstuhl Statistik course WS 2015 2016 language English abstract This paper deals with the development of the gold and silver prices from January 2001 until January 2015 and introduces the ARMA model from Box Jenkins for weakly stationary stochastic processes and the GARCH model from Bollerslev to model heteroscedastic time series The results which were obtained with the help of the statistics package R are presented in section 5 and 6 respectively Besides a forecast of the prices for both assets is made in section 7 the limitations of the research are presented in section 8 and section 9 concludes with a summary of the findings It is widely known in the financial world that both equities silver and gold have a long history of serving as a hedge against inflation political risk and currency exchange risk which provide economic and physical safety for the investors during times of political and economic crises as well as equity market crashes This phenomenon could be observed in the 2008 financial crisis where other mineral prices fell but only the gold price increased by 6% Moreover researchers also show that gold and dollar seem to be negatively related as in times when the dollar was weak the price for gold increases Hence gold was found to be uncorrelated with other types of assets which leads to advantages for an investor in an era of globalization As gold and silver assets seem to play an important role for investors it is of great necessity to monitor its prices and the volatility of the time series The autoregressive moving average models ARMA and the generalized autoregressive heteroscedasticity GARCH models became popular for academics and practitioners and led to a fundamental change to the approach of examining financial data The ARMA models have been further extended and an efficient modelling of the volatility of the prices with GARCH models was further inspected by many researchers IMO News ,2013
