Shifting Paradigms in International Investment Law Steffen Hindelang, Markus Krajewski, 2016-01-21 International investment law is in transition Whereas the prevailing mindset has always been the protection of the economic interests of individual investors new developments in international investment law have brought about a paradigm shift There is now more than ever before an interest in a more inclusive transparent and public regime Shifting Paradigms in International Investment Law addresses these changes against the background of the UNCTAD framework to reform investment treaties The book analyses how the investment treaty regime has changed and how it ought to be changing to reconcile private property interests and the state's duty to regulate in the public interest In doing so the volume tracks attempts in international investment law to recalibrate itself towards a more balanced less isolated and increasingly diversified regime The individual chapters of this edited volume address the contents of investment agreements the system of dispute settlement the interrelation of investment agreements with other areas of public international law constitutional questions and new regional perspectives from Europe South Africa the Pacific Rim Region and Latin America Together they provide an invaluable resource for scholars practitioners and policymakers The individual chapters of this edited volume address the contents of investment agreements the system of dispute settlement the interrelation of investment agreements with other areas of public international law constitutional questions and new regional perspectives from Europe South Africa the Pacific Rim Region and Latin America Together they provide an invaluable resource for scholars practitioners and policymakers

Improving International Investment Agreements Armand De Mestral, Céline Lévesque, 2013-02-11 This book presents the reflections of a group of researchers interested in assessing whether the law governing the promotion and protection of foreign investment reflects sound public policy Whether it is the lack of checks and balances on investor rights or more broadly the lack of balance between public rights and private interests the time is ripe for an in depth discussions of current challenges facing the international investment law regime Through a survey of the evolution in IIA treaty making and an evaluation from different perspectives the authors take stock of developments in international investment law and analyze potential solutions to some of the criticisms that plague IIAs The book takes a multidisciplinary approach to the subject with expert analysis from legal political and economic scholars The first part of the book traces the evolution of IIA treaty making whilst the other three parts are organised around the concepts of efficiency legitimacy and sustainability Each contributor analyzes one or more issues related to substance treaty negotiation or dispute resolution with the ultimate aim of improving IIA treaty making in these respects Improving International Investment Agreements will be of particular interest to students and academics in the fields of International Investment Law International Trade Law Business and Economics Global Values and International Trade Law Csongor István Nagy, 2021-12-26 Exploring the relationship and interaction between economic interests and normative non trade values this book argues that the emergence and development of non trade values is based on a complex dialectic interaction between selfish economic interests and normative values and examines how their structural interdependence has given rise to a remarkable evolution in international trade. Conceiving this relationship as an intricate dialectic one that is neither purely value driven nor purely economic interest driven it addresses the emergence function and role of non trade values in international trade with a synthesizing approach and explores the results of their interaction in international economic intercourse. Approaching the non trade issues of trade in a holistic manner the book demonstrates that trade can operate smoothly only if it is framed by an architecture of normative value standards and international trade liberalization has reached the level where further development calls for cooperation also in fields that at first glance may appear to be non trade in nature.

Hizb'Allah in Lebanon M. Ranstorp, 1996-11-27. The abduction of Western citizens by Hizb Allah was motivated either by internal organisational requirements or in alignment with Syrian and Iranian interests and mechanisms for the resolution of the hostage crisis were subject to continuous interaction between Hizb Allah, Iran and Syria influenced by internal Lebanese regional and international events. The Western responses to the hostage crisis showed limited effectiveness as the crisis management techniques were poorly adjusted in timing and direction to the actual crisis environment. With the exception of the French response the overall employment of Western crisis management techniques showed disregard for the opportunities and constraints in the fluctuating relationship between Syria and Iran as well as the political environment within Lebanon which the Hizb Allah operates and exists. This was clear by their failure to rely on either Iran or Syria as the only channel in negotiations over hostages without regard to their individual ability to exert its influence over the Lebanese movement in accordance with shifts in their ties to Hizb Allah's command leadership between 1987-1991 and to the status of the Iranian-Syrian relationship over time as displayed by the friction between 1986-92. This study provides a new approach in the study of terrorism by merging a case study of the dynamics of the Lebanese hostage crisis with an evaluation of Western responses through crisis management techniques in order to more closely resolve the dilemma of the fulfilment of these states duty to protect their citizens taken hostage abroad without major sacrifices in the conduct of foreign policy.
