

Unit 2: The Constitution and Federalism - AP U.S. Government & Politics

Page 1:

Introduction to Unit 2:

- Unit 2 of AP U.S. Government & Politics focuses on the Constitution and Federalism.
- The Constitution is the supreme law of the United States, outlining the structure and powers of the government.
- Federalism refers to the division of powers between the national government and state governments.

The Origins of the Constitution:

- The Constitutional Convention: Held in Philadelphia in 1787, delegates from the states gathered to revise the Articles of Confederation but ended up drafting a new constitution.
- Influences: The framers drew inspiration from various sources, including classical republicanism, the Magna Carta, the Enlightenment thinkers, and English common law.
- Key Figures: James Madison, often referred to as the "Father of the Constitution," played a crucial role in shaping the document.
- Compromises: The Constitutional Convention witnessed notable compromises, such as the Great Compromise (or Connecticut Compromise) that settled the dispute between large and small states over representation in Congress.

Key Principles of the Constitution:

- Popular Sovereignty: The power of the government derives from the consent of the governed.
- Limited Government: The government's powers are restricted by the Constitution to protect individual rights.
- Separation of Powers: The three branches of government (legislative, executive, and judicial) have distinct roles and functions.
- Checks and Balances: Each branch has the ability to limit the powers of the other branches to prevent abuse of power.
- Federalism: Division of powers between the national government and state governments.

Constitutional Interpretation:

- Strict Constructionism: An approach that emphasizes interpreting the Constitution based on its original intent and the text's literal meaning.
- Judicial Activism: The belief that the Constitution should be interpreted in a way that adapts to societal changes and reflects evolving values.
- Judicial Restraint: The philosophy that courts should generally defer to the decisions of the elected branches of government and avoid making broad policy decisions.
