Handbook of Research on Shifting Paradigms of Disabilities in the Schooling System Maapola-Thobejane, Hlabathi Rebecca, Maguvhe, Mbulaheni Obert, 2023-10-16 Children living with disabilities face hardships of many kinds that make it impossible for them to access quality education in the same way as their peers in the schooling system All children are entitled to quality education and a supportive school environment that allows them to develop to their full potential irrespective of their disabilities However different factors make it difficult for many learners who live with disabilities to access participate and succeed in the schooling system The Handbook of Research on Shifting Paradigms of Disabilities in the Schooling System focuses on the global trends in education that require the total eradication of every form of impediment in the process of accessing quality education and lifelong learning for people living with disabilities Rooted in the philosophy of equal rights human dignity and social justice access to quality education for all has led to the current drive for inclusive education Covering topics such as inclusive schooling systems visual impairments and emotional disabilities this major reference work is an essential resource for students and faculty of higher education administrators of both K 12 and higher education government officials policymakers non profit organizations researchers and academicians Smart City

Computational Paradigms Mohit Kumar, Aditi Sharma, Ketan Kotecha, Victor Sheng, 2026-01-22 Smart City Computational Paradigms A Sustainable Approach describes the connections between state of the art technologies while also providing a comprehensive overview for readers interested in advanced technologies The smart city paradigm combines smart homes smart healthcare smart transportation smart industry smart environment and smart energy to ensure sustainability well being and comfortable living within the urban environment for the city s citizens The book identifies challenges and proposed solutions and covers underlying theory design techniques classification taxonomy and analytical tools Content primarily focuses on real time applications uncertainty solutions and approaches with hands on demonstrations for decision making outcomes This convergence of computational intelligence and IoT not only transforms data into actionable knowledge but also fosters the development of autonomous efficient and adaptive systems across diverse domains ranging from smart cities to healthcare and industrial applications The integration of computational intelligence with IoT enhances the capabilities of connected systems making them smarter more efficient and better equipped to handle the complexities of the modern world Explores the concept of the smart city and explains how smart cities can improve sustainability transport and healthcare Demonstrates how computing paradigm technologies can be integrated with artificial intelligence and internet of things Applies inter disciplinary themes and applications AI IoT Blockchain Decision Making Computational Paradigm Uncertainty to sustainable smart cities Includes case studies of successful applications of the smart city computational paradigms

New Paradigms in Ergonomics Neville A. Stanton, Paul M. Salmon, Guy Walker, 2020-04-28 The systems in which we work continue to evolve creating emergent problems and often strengthening intractable issues In order to remain relevant and impactful the discipline of ergonomics needs its paradigms to evolve too The aim of this book is to provide researchers and practitioners with new paradigms in the form of ideas concepts theories methods practices and values The chapters take the reader on a journey through underlying theories new ways to apply those theories and emerging domains in which ergonomics is expected to play a greater role Readers of this book will be inspired by these new paradigms in ergonomics and seek to push the boundaries even further The lifeblood of the science depends on continual evolution and developments to take on the challenges we face in complex sociotechnical systems design and evaluation Perhaps the most significant take home message from this book is the demonstration of how theory maps onto practice As such the only remaining paradigm shift is for these ideas concepts methods and practices to be taken up more widely and the discipline advanced until the next paradigm shift occurs The chapters were originally published as a special issue in the journal Ergonomics Transformative Food Value Chains for Local Development Silke Maria Stöber,Wolfgang

Bokelmann,Walter Odongo,Susanne Huyskens-Keil,Joanita Kataike,2024-01-26 Understanding the capacity of food systems to undertake a transformation towards sustainability requires understanding how resources stream in and out of the systems As complex socio economic structures food and agricultural value chains are important means for channeling resources knowledge and agency in and out of rural areas Given their prominent role on the development agendas there is mixed evidence as to what extent value chains and their actors can contribute to improving the livelihoods in poor rural and urban areas In order to shape sustainable living places transformative capacities and good governance are important mainstays Transformative agri food value chains are robust and often act as the sole transmission belt for returning capital resources and identity back into vulnerable areas Moreover domestic or regional chains may provide urban consumers with fresh quality food that also contributes to regional identity Transforming Early Head Start Home Visiting Bridget A.

Walsh,Jennifer A. Mortensen,2019-10-29 Research on home visiting shows that Early Head Start EHS home based programs benefit from additional training and resources that streamline philosophy and content In this essential guide Walsh and Mortensen propose that alignment with Family Life Education s FLE strengths based methodology results in greater consistency through a model of prevention education and collaboration with families This text is the first to outline linkages between FLE and EHS home visiting It explores a qualitative study of FLE integrated in a current EHS home based program and application of FLE methodology to home visiting topics This approach will influence professional practice and provide a foundation for developing evidence based home visiting practices Online content accompanies the text with videos demonstrating the FLE approach in action and discussion questions to encourage engagement with and understanding of the core material Transforming Early Head Start Home Visiting A Family Life Education Approach is essential reading for upper level undergraduate and masters students in family studies and early childhood education as well as practitioners working with children and families Medical-Surgical Nursing - E-Book Susan C. deWit,Holly K.
