Mary Barton: A Tale Of Manchester Life Elizabeth Cleghorn Gaskell,2022-11-23
Reproduction of the original Mary Barton Elizabeth Gaskell,2018-10-21
Three years ago I became anxious from circumstances that need not be more fully alluded to to employ myself in writing a work of fiction Living in Manchester but with a deep relish and fond admiration for the country my first thought was to find a frame work for my story in some rural scene and I had already made a little progress in a tale the period of which was more than a century ago and the place on the borders of Yorkshire when I bethought me how deep might be the romance in the lives of some of those who elbowed me daily in the busy streets of the town in which I resided I had always felt a deep sympathy with the care worn men who looked as if doomed to struggle through their lives in strange alternations between work and want tossed to and fro by circumstances apparently in even a greater degree than other men A little manifestation of this sympathy and a little attention to the expression of feelings on the part of some of the work people with whom I was acquainted had laid open to me the hearts of one or two of the more thoughtful among them I saw that they were sore and irritable against the rich the even tenor of whose seemingly happy lives appeared to increase the anguish caused by the lottery like nature of their own Whether the bitter complaints made by them of the neglect which they experienced from the prosperous especially from the masters whose fortunes they had helped to build up were well founded or no it is not for me to judge Mary Barton Elizabeth Cleghorn Gaskell,2022-05-10
Mary Barton is the story of a working class family in which the father John Barton lapses into bitter class hatred during a cyclic depression and carries out a retaliatory murder at the behest of his trade union Mary Barton Elizabeth Gaskell,1997-04-01
O Jem her father won't listen to me and it's you must save Mary You're like a brother to her Mary Barton the daughter of disillusioned trade unionist rejects her working class lover Jem Wilson in the hope of marrying Henry Carson the mill owner's son and making a better life for herself and her father But when Henry is shot down in the street and Jem becomes the main suspect Mary finds herself painfully torn between the two men Through Mary's dilemma and the moving portrayal of her father the embittered and courageous activist John Barton Mary Barton 1848 powerfully dramatizes the class divides of the hungry forties as personal tragedy In its social and political setting it looks towards Elizabeth Gaskell's great novels of the industrial revolution in particular North and South In his introduction Maconald Daly discusses Elizabeth Gaskell's first novel as a pioneering book that made public the great division between rich and poor a theme that inspired much of her finest work Mary Barton Elizabeth Cleghorn Gaskell,2006-11 father but immediately after refusing Jem's offer of marriage she realises that she truly loves him. She therefore decides to evade Carson, planning to show her feelings to Jem in the course of time. Jem believes her decision to be final, though this does not change his feelings for her. Meanwhile Esther, a street walker, returns to warn John Barton that he must save Mary from becoming like her. He simply pushes her away, however, and she is sent to jail for a month on the charge of vagrancy. Upon her release she talks to Jem with the same purpose. He promises that he will protect Mary and confronts Carson, eventually entering into a fight with him which is witnessed by a policeman passing by. Not long afterwards Carson is shot dead and Jem is arrested for the crime, his gun having been found at the scene. Esther decides to investigate the matter further and discovers that the wadding for the gun was a piece of paper on which is written Mary's name. She visits her niece to warn her to save the one she loves, and after she leaves Mary realises that the murderer is not Jem but her father. She is now faced with having to save her lover without giving away her father. With the help of Job Legh, the intelligent grandfather of her blind friend Margaret, Mary travels to Liverpool to find the only person who could provide an alibi for Jem: Will Wilson, Jem's cousin and a sailor who was with him on the night of the murder. Unfortunately Will's ship is already departing, so that after Mary chases after the ship in a small boat, the only thing Will can do is promise to return in the pilot ship and testify the next day. During the trial Jem learns of Mary's great love for him. Will arrives in court to testify and Jem is found not guilty. Mary has fallen ill during the trial and is nursed by Mr Sturgis, an old sailor, and his wife. When she finally returns to Manchester she has to face her father, who is crushed by his remorse.
