Mating Norman Rush, 1992-09-01 NATIONAL BOOK AWARD WINNER Is love between equals possible This modern classic is a delightful intellectual love story that explores the deepest canyons of romantic love even as it asks large questions about society geopolitics and the mystery of what men and women really want Luminous Few books evoke the state of love at its apogee The New York Times Book Review The best rendering of erotic politics since D H Lawrence The voice of Rush's narrator is immediate instructive and endearing The New York Review of Books One of The Atlantic's Great American Novels of the Past 100 Years The narrator of this splendidly expansive novel of high intellect and grand passion is an American anthropologist at loose ends in the South African republic of Botswana She has a noble and exacting mind a compelling waist and a busted thesis project She also has a yen for Nelson Deonon a charismatic intellectual who is rumored to have founded a secretive and unorthodox utopian society in a remote corner of the Kalahari one in which he is virtually the only man What ensues is an exhilarating quest and an exuberant comedy of manners A dryly comic love story about grown up people who take the life of the mind seriously Newsweek
