

Circulatory Systems

Answer Key

Background: cellular respiration, blood vessel, pathway, circulatory system, heart, arteries, pulmonary artery, pulmonary vein, capillary wall, vein, ventricle, atrium, stroke, blood clot

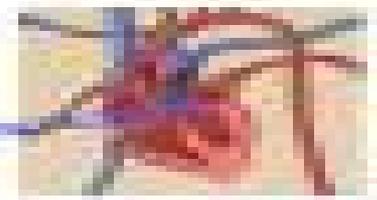

Pre-knowledge Questions (Answers are in the following questions)

1. Why is pulmonary circulation important?
Pulmonary circulation carries deoxygenated blood from the heart to the lungs, where it is oxygenated, and then carries the oxygenated blood back to the heart.

2. What is the general flow of blood through your body? (Arrows)

Class Activity:
Illustrate the general flow of blood through the heart and body. Label the heart, arteries, and veins in the circulatory system. Color with red and blue.

3. How many chambers does the heart have? How?
The heart has four chambers: two atria and two ventricles. The right atrium and right ventricle are connected by the tricuspid valve. The left atrium and left ventricle are connected by the mitral valve. The ventricles are connected to the rest of the body by the pulmonary artery and pulmonary vein.

4. How do valves inside the heart affect the process of blood circulation?
Valves prevent backflow of blood, ensuring that it flows in one direction through the heart.

5. Illustrate how blood enters the heart. How does the process of blood circulation in the heart and the rest of the body work? (Arrows) (Answer: Blood enters the heart from the vena cavae, moves to the right atrium, then to the right ventricle, and is pumped to the lungs. From the lungs, it moves to the left atrium, then to the left ventricle, and is pumped to the rest of the body.)

6. Challenge: Why do you breathe out CO₂ and O₂ and how does the system of the lungs work?
The lungs are the site of gas exchange. Blood enters the lungs from the pulmonary artery, where it is deoxygenated. In the capillaries, CO₂ is released and O₂ is absorbed. The oxygenated blood then returns to the heart via the pulmonary vein.
