

Structure, function and evolution of the eye and visual system

What is the structure and function of the eye and visual system? (10/03/2020)

The diagram illustrates the evolution of the eye from a simple light-sensitive spot to a complex eye with a lens and retina. The stages are shown in a sequence from left to right, with the most complex eye on the far right.

What is the structure and function of the eye and visual system?

Structure and function

The eye is a complex organ that allows us to see. It consists of several parts, including the cornea, iris, lens, and retina. The cornea is the clear front part of the eye that helps focus light. The iris is the colored part of the eye that controls the amount of light that enters. The lens is a clear, biconvex structure that focuses light on the retina. The retina is the back part of the eye that contains light-sensitive cells that convert light into electrical signals that the brain can interpret.

1. What is the structure and function of the eye and visual system?
