Four Square for Writing Assessment - Secondary Judy Gould, Mary F. Burke, 2010-09-01 This new addition to the popular Four Square series helps prepare students for the writing assessment. Students will learn an organized Four Square approach for brainstorming as well as a simple three step revision process to use on their initial drafts. On assessment day teachers cannot confer with students and students cannot assist one another. The writer must have a method to deliver their best writing on demand. That writing needs to be organized, focused, detailed, and engaging. The writer needs a plan on assessment day and the Four Square plan is the best way to get the job done.

SAS for Data Analysis Mervyn G. Marasinghe, William J. Kennedy, 2008-12-10 This book is intended for use as the textbook in a second course in applied statistics that covers topics in multiple regression and analysis of variance at an intermediate level. Generally, students enrolled in such courses are primarily graduate majors or advanced undergraduate students from a variety of disciplines. These students typically have taken an introductory level statistical methods course that requires the use of a software system such as SAS for performing statistical analysis. Thus, students are expected to have an understanding of basic concepts of statistical inference such as estimation and hypothesis testing. Understandably, adequate time is not available in a first course in statistical methods to cover the use of a software system adequately in the amount of time available for instruction. The aim of this book is to teach how to use the SAS system for data analysis. The SAS language is introduced at a level of sophistication not found in most introductory SAS books. Important features such as SAS data step programming pointers and line hold spe ers are described in detail. The powerful graphics support available in SAS is emphasized throughout and many worked SAS program examples contain graphic components.

Watching Closely Christena Nippert-Eng, 2015-10-01 Ethnographers rely on three related activities to conduct research in the field: observation, conversation, and participation. Observing others in their environments and using this data to inform and share conclusions is an essential part of any fieldworker's toolkit. However, many ethnographers' observational muscles tend to be their weakest. Fortunately, Christena Nippert-Eng's Watching Closely: A Guide to Ethnographic Observation provides a practical, interactive guide for improving one's powers of observation. The book includes nine exercises for practicing observational skills, including a preparatory briefing and post-exercise discussion. Nippert-Eng also offers a weblink globaloup.com/us/watchingclosely to sample responses from her previous students, providing an additional resource beyond the text itself Beyond the traditional tenets of field work Watching Closely encourages readers to pursue more creative ways of collecting and analyzing data such as sketching diagramming and photography as well as developing more concrete expectations for the potential uses and meanings of ethnographic data Engaging and accessible Watching Closely offers a guide for readers to not only strengthen their core skills and mindset as fieldworkers but also to produce research that is more scientifically rigorous and persuasive From social and behavioral scientists to user centered designers and architects undergraduate students to experienced fieldworkers a vast array of readers will reap the benefits of learning more about how we observe
