Adsensory Urban Ecology (Volume One) Pamela Odih, 2019-03-13 Adsensory sign technology which depicts the human body as both object and subject of inscriptive advertising technologies is integral to a western capitalist insurantal financialisation of health and wellbeing Developing further the theme of adsensory technologies of the sign in conjunction with Daniel Bell's theory of the codification of knowledge as an axial feature of the structuring of post industrial society this book explores gentrification in heterotopic post industrial urban spaces It brings together case studies from London's Grenfell Tower exploring perilous facade refurbishment and London's Garden Bridge project and speculative capital regeneration These studies illustrate empirically the extent to which advertising adsensory technologies have become integral to the gentrification of post industrial urban spaces Several of the case studies engage critically with the empirical observation that in the post industrial urban ecology of inner city regeneration adsensory technologies extend avariciously into the infrastructure of neoliberal managerialist gentrification In addition the book explores the forms of capital accumulation which are emerging from the integration of adsensory technology into the gentrification of post industrial urban spaces and examines a new form of capital accumulation in inner city gentrification predicated on the degenerative integrity of adsensory financialisation

The More Economic Approach to EU Antitrust Law Anne C Witt, 2016-11-17 In the late 1990s the European Commission embarked on a long process of introducing a more economic approach to EU Antitrust law One by one it reviewed its approach to all three pillars of EU Antitrust Law starting with Article 101 TFEU moving on to EU merger control and concluding the process with Article 102 TFEU Its aim was to make EU antitrust law more compatible with contemporary economic thinking On the basis of an extensive empirical analysis of the Commission's main enforcement tools this book establishes the changes that the more economic approach has made to the Commission's enforcement practice over the past fifteen years It demonstrates that the more economic approach not only introduced modern economic assessment tools to the Commission's analyses but fundamentally changed the Commission's interpretation of the law Emulating one of the key credos of the US Antitrust Revolution thirty years earlier the Commission reinterpreted the EU antitrust rules as aiming at the enhancement of economic consumer welfare only and amended its understanding of key legal concepts accordingly This book argues that the Commission's new understanding of the law has many benefits Its key principles are logical translate well into workable legal concepts and promise a great degree of accuracy However it also has a number of serious drawbacks as it stands Most worryingly its revised interpretation of the law is to large extents incompatible with the case law of the European Court of Justice which has not been swayed by the exclusive consumer welfare aim This situation is undesirable from the point of view of legal certainty and the rule of law

Pastoralism and Socio-technological Transformations in Northern Benin Georges Djohy, 2017 Pastoralists throughout Africa face increasing pressures In Benin governmental development policies and programmes in crop farming are changing power relations between herders and farmers to favour the latter How are the Fulani pastoralists responding to these threats to their existence Georges Djohy explores the dynamics in local use of natural resources and in inter ethnic relations resulting from development interventions He combines the approaches of science and technology studies looking at the co construction of society and technology and political ecology looking at the power relations shaping the dynamics of economic environmental and social change so as to throw light on the forces of marginalisation adaptation and innovation at work in northern Benin Having worked there for many years Djohy has been able to uncover gradual processes of socio technological change that are happening behind the scenes of agricultural development involving mechanisation herbicide use tree planting land registration and natural resource conservation He reveals how farmers are using these interventions as weapons in order to gain more rights over larger areas of land in other words to support indigenous land grabbing from herders who had been using the land since decades for grazing He documents how the Fulani are innovating to ensure their survival e g by using new technologies for transport and communication developing new strategies of livestock feeding and herd movement and developing complementary sources of household income The Fulani are organising themselves from local to national level to provide technological and socio cultural services manage conflicts and gain a stronger political voice e g to be able to achieve demarcation of corridors for moving livestock through cultivated areas They even use non functioning mini dairies another example of development intervention to demonstrate their modernity and to open up other opportunities to transform their pastoral systems This book provides insights into normally hidden technical and social dynamics that are unexpected outcomes of development interventions

Pharmocracy Kaushik Sunder Rajan,2017-03-02 Continuing his pioneering theoretical explorations into the relationships among biosciences the market and political economy Kaushik Sunder Rajan introduces the concept of pharmocracy to explain the structure and operation of the global hegemony of the multinational pharmaceutical industry He reveals pharmocracy s logic in two case studies from contemporary India the controversial introduction of an HPV vaccine in 2010 and the Indian Patent Office s denial of a patent for an anticancer drug in 2006 and ensuing legal battles In each instance health was appropriated by capital and transformed from an embodied state of well being into an abstract category made subject to capital s interests These cases demonstrate the precarious situation in which pharmocracy places democracy as India s accommodation of global pharmaceutical regulatory frameworks pits the interests of its citizens against those of international capital Sunder Rajan s insights into this dynamic make clear the high stakes of pharmocracy s intersection with health politics and democracy
