Culture and International Law Hikmahanto Juwana, Jeffrey Thomas, Mohd Hazmi Mohd Rusli, Dhiana Puspitawati, 2019-09-03 In this era of globalization International Law plays a significant role in facing rapid development of various legal issues Cultural preservation has emerged as an important legal issue that should be considered by States This book consists of academic papers presented and discussed during the 9th International Conference of the Centre of International Law Studies 9th CILS Conference held in Malang Indonesia 2 3 October 2018 The title of the book represents the major theme of the conference Culture and International Law It is argued that along with globalization cultural preservation is slowly ignored by States Various papers presented in the book cover five topics cultural heritage cultural rights culture and economic activity culture and armed conflict and a general topic The authors of the papers are outstanding academics from various countries Lithuania United States of America Australia Thailand and Indonesia The conference was organized by Universitas Indonesia in collaboration with Brawijaya University This book aims to give a useful contribution to the existing literature on International Law specifically focussing on cultural issues from the perspective of cultural heritage and rights economic as well as armed conflict

Sudanese Women Refugees J. Edward, 2007-10-29 This book examines the social cultural economic and political transformations that have occurred among southern Sudanese women refugees as they experience life in Cairo Egypt It intends to show how these women use their newly acquired skills and knowledge to challenge their past and to challenge the image of women refugees as victims and dependents The author counters previous literature's tendency to categorize these women as victimized dependent and backwards rather than recognizing their strength and contributions to their new societies

Coming Back Edoardo Albinati, 2003 In March 2002 the repatriation of Afghan refugees began It was one of the largest migrations in history an exodus of biblical proportions yet this time people were not fleeing but returning to their own country where they found demolished houses mined fields and no water supplies Edoardo Albinati spent 4 months in Afghanistan working in the UNHCR centers where the tide of returnees was at its peak He travelled around the cities of Kabul Kandahar the deserts and the rural areas in search of solutions for the reintegration of the refugees This book written with the zest of a diarist and peopled by a myriad unforgettable faces and stories is the daily account of what he saw heard and did while hundreds of thousands of people struggling for survival rolled past in overcrowded trucks It is the critical impassioned testimony of a gigantic collective effort whose outcome is still highly uncertain

Minority Rights in Kosovo under International Rule Clive Baldwin, 2006-07-06 After seven years of international administration the longest and most expensive since the creation of the UN Kosovo remains one of the most segregated places in Europe with thousands of displaced persons still in camps and many ethnically pure towns and villages The report discusses the failure on the part of the international protectorate to learn lessons from the past and to draw on the minority rights expertise available within the UN and other bodies It shows how decision makers have been unaccountable and how the Constitutional Framework they have produced treats minority rights in a way that encourages segregation rather than integration As the future status of Kosovo is negotiated the report calls for radical change away from the acceptance of patterns of segregation that lead to ethnic cleansing and towards minority rights guaranteed by the rule of law The report is essential reading for all those interested in understanding Kosovo and how to create a more hopeful future there while its analysis also holds lessons for those working for the effective implementation of minority rights in other contexts Human Rights Watch, 2000 Dialogue Interpreting Rebecca Tipton, Olgierda Furmanek, 2016-02-05 Routledge Interpreting Guides cover the key settings or domains of interpreting and equip trainee interpreters and students of interpreting with the skills needed in each area of the field Concise accessible and written by leading authorities they include examples from existing interpreting practice activities further reading suggestions and a glossary of key terms Drawing on recent peer reviewed research in interpreting studies and related disciplines Dialogue Interpreting helps practising interpreters students and instructors of interpreting to navigate their way through what is fast becoming the very expansive field of dialogue interpreting in more traditional domains such as legal and medical and in areas where new needs of language brokerage are only beginning to be identified such as asylum education social care and faith Innovative in its approach this guide places emphasis on collaborative dimensions in the wider institutional and organizational setting in each of the domains covered and on understanding services in the context of local communities The authors propose solutions to real life problems based on knowledge of domain specific practices and protocols as well as inviting discussion on existing standards of practice for interpreters Key features include contextualized examples and case studies reinforced by voices from the field such as the views of managers of language services and the publications of professional associations These allow readers to evaluate appropriate responses in relation to their particular geo national contexts of practice and personal experience activities to support the structured development of research skills interpreter performance and team work These can be used either in class or as self guided or collaborative learning and are supplemented by materials on the Translation Studies Portal a glossary of key terms and pointers to resources for further development Dialogue Interpreting is an essential guide for practising interpreters and for all students of interpreting within advanced undergraduate and postgraduate graduate programmes in Translation and Interpreting Studies Modern Languages Applied Linguistics and Intercultural Communication Commodities of War Oxfam GB, Steven Van Damme, 2012 Rights in Exile Guglielmo Verdirame, Barbara E. Harrell-Bond, 2005 Of the estimated 12 million refugees in the world more than 7 million have been confined to camps effectively warehoused in some cases for 10 years or more Holding refugees in camps was anathema to the founders of the refugee protection regime Today with most refugees encamped in the less developed parts of the world the humanitarian apparatus has been transformed into a custodial regime for innocent people Based on rich ethnographic data Rights in Exile exposes the gap between human rights norms and the mandates of international organisations on the one hand and the reality on the ground on the other It will be of wide interest to social scientists and to human rights and international law scholars Policy makers donor governments and humanitarian organizations especially those adopting a rights based approach will also find it an invaluable resource But it is the refugees themselves who could benefit the most if these actors absorb its lessons and apply them Guglielmo Verdirame is a Lecturer in Law at the University of Cambridge and a Fellow of Corpus Christi College He is also the author of a forthcoming book on the accountability of the United Nations Barbara Harrell Bond Founding director of the Refugee Studies Centre University of Oxford has after retirement been Visiting Professor at Makerere University and at the American University in Cairo In 1996 she received the Distinguished Service Award of the American Anthropological Association She is the author of Imposing Aid Oxford 1986
