Research Projects for Business & Management Students Siah Hwee Ang, 2021-01-27 This second edition of Research Projects for Business and Management Students provides students undertaking extended research with a foundation upon which to build their practice. The author sets out each stage of a research project systematically to allow you to follow along and build an understanding of the processes involved in carrying out in depth pieces of research as well as the functions of commonly used research methods. Conversation boxes throughout will also help situate your learning by providing examples of commonly asked questions, challenges that may occur while you carry out your research, and guidance on how to answer them. Professor Siah Hwee Ang is Professor of International Business and Strategy, inaugural Chair in Business in Asia, and Director of the NZ's Southeast Asia Centre of Asia Pacific Excellence at Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand.

Doing Research in Business and Management Dan Remenyi, D. Remenyi, 1998-09-14 Doing Research in Business and Management has been written to help students obtain a thorough understanding of the main methodological issues and options that are available to them as business and management researchers undertaking a masters or doctoral degree. Doing Research in Business and Management takes the reader through all of the important issues that need to be understood if a competent piece of research is to be produced at the masters or doctoral level in the business and management studies. The authors explain the interrelationship between the theoretical and empirical research, as well as the differences between positivism and phenomenology. Not only do they put these concepts in context for the business and management student, but they go on to discuss how these different approaches are used in practice. Furthermore, the authors discuss the implications of quantitative and qualitative approaches to research. The book offers high level advice on different numerical techniques available to researchers, as well as different software packages that may be used for analyzing qualitative data. The book also discusses the use of the Internet to support research in masters and doctoral programs.

Novel Approaches to Organizational Project Management Research Nathalie Drouin, Ralf Müller, Shankar Sankaran, 2013 Project management (PM) traditionally employed to implement projects has developed into Organizational Project Management as organizations are increasingly using projects to deliver strategies. The emergence of program and portfolio management has also contributed to this move. PM researchers need to become more innovative in their research approaches. They need to connect with the broader currents of social science in relevant fields such as organization theory. Outside the specific field, there is a great deal that can usefully be imported, transformed, and translated so that it is fit for project management research purposes. More trans-disciplinary, translational, and transformational approaches for conducting project-related research are required, and this book goes a long way to providing foundations for them. The book encompasses reflections on fundamental questions underlying any research, such as the type of knowledge sought, as well as the epistemological and ontological assumptions It broadens research methods and theory perspectives drawing on contemporary approaches such as action research soft systems methodology activity theory actor network theory and other approaches adopted in related scientific and technological areas that are only recently being adopted To achieve this the book's editors have necessarily been eclectically interdisciplinary in their contributor list They have included contemporary research methods and designs from areas allied to project research such as organization science organizational studies sociology behavioral science and biology providing innovative invitations to research design and methodological choice Overall this book makes a significant contribution to the maturation and development of project management research as a specialty in the broader social sciences one that is a less reliant handmaiden or under laborer to purely technical issues but which appreciates that any material construction is always a social construction as well one that implies episteme and phronesis knowledge and wisdom as well as techne or technique Project managers may not realize it but the most important aspects of what they manage are the meanings interpretations and politics of projects and not merely the technical aspects Series Advances in Organization Studies Vol 29 Subject Project Management Business Administration Organizational Studies
