Simon Holloway,1993 The technology and use of Computer Aided Systems Engineering CASE has evolved and matured in its value to the information systems community Increasingly central to this evolution is the concept of a Distributed Development Environment with tools to support the automation of not only the engineering of application systems but also the automation of the tasks involved in the infrastructure mechanisms that underpin the modern development environment This book is the third of a trilogy the first two books written jointly with Tony Bidgood The first The CASE Handbook for Information Managers provides a management introduction and guide to selection and implementation as well as the principles terminology types and methods and vendors of CASE products The second The CASE Strategies Guide for Information Managers reviews and explains the strategies of a number of major hardware and software vendors in the CASE arena It compares and contrasts the strategies and their supporting products with a view to how well they meet the requirements laid out in the CASE Handbook In this third book the author has looked at the detail behind the selection criteria he laid out in the CASE Handbook in the context of the Bigger Picture The first chapter looks at the Distributed Development Environment The remaining chapters review in detail the way selection criteria can be built for the different types of CASE tools that support this bigger picture The readership includes directors of information management senior
