Barker, Roger Howe, 2007 The fundamental idea of geometry is that of symmetry With that principle as the starting point Barker and Howe begin an insightful and rewarding study of Euclidean geometry The primary focus of the book is on transformations of the plane The transformational point of view provides both a path for deeper understanding of traditional synthetic geometry and tools for providing proofs that spring from a consistent point of view As a result proofs become more comprehensible as techniques can be used and reused in similar settings The approach to the material is very concrete with complete explanations of all the important ideas including foundational background The discussions of the nine point circle and wallpaper groups are particular examples of how the strength of the transformational point of view and the care of the authors exposition combine to give a remarkable presentation of topics in geometry This text is for a one semester undergraduate course on geometry It is richly illustrated and contains hundreds of exercises
