Summers with Lincoln James A. Percoco, 2009-08-25 A journey across America revealing the history of how seven of these monuments came to be and what they mean to us today The Washington Times Across the country in the middle of busy city squares and hidden on quiet streets there are nearly two hundred statues erected in memory of Abraham Lincoln No other American has ever been so widely commemorated A few years ago Jim Percoco a history teacher with a passion for both Lincoln and public sculpture set off to see what he might learn about some of these monuments what they meant to their creators and to the public when they were unveiled and what they mean to us today The result is a fascinating chronicle of four summers on the road looking for Lincoln stories in statues of marble and bronze Percoco selects seven emblematic works among them Thomas Ball's Emancipation Group erected east of the Capitol in 1876 with private funds from African Americans and dedicated by Frederick Douglass Augustus Saint Gaudens's majestic Standing Lincoln of 1887 in Chicago Paulanship's 1932 Lincoln the Hoosier Youth in Fort Wayne Indiana and Gutzon Borglum's 1911 Seated Lincoln struggling with the pain of leadership beckoning visitors to sit next to him on his metal bench in Newark New Jersey At each stop Percoco chronicles the history of the monument spotlighting its artistic social political and cultural origins His descriptions draw fresh meaning from mute stone and cold metal raising provocative questions not just about who Lincoln might have been but about what we've wanted him to be in the monuments we've built

Looking for Lincoln in Illinois Bryon C. Andreasen, 2015-03-31 Winner ISHS Certificate of Excellence Award 2016 Presenting fifty Abraham Lincoln stories some familiar and beloved some fresh and unexpected Looking for Lincoln in Illinois Lincoln's Springfield is a carefully researched richly illustrated guide to the Springfield Illinois locations on the Looking for Lincoln Story Trail Created by the Looking for Lincoln Heritage Coalition this trail consists of more than two hundred illustrated storyboards posted at sites of significance to Lincoln's life and career across fifty two communities in Illinois The storyboards connect Lincoln related tales to the geographical locations where they occurred giving visitors and now readers a tour of the social and cultural landscape of Lincoln's nineteenth century world while revealing the very human Lincoln known by friends and associates. This book celebrates the trail as a rich historical resource featuring the original storyboards produced for Springfield and including twelve additional stories and more than 150 illustrations. Engaging stories in the book bring Lincoln's Springfield to life. Lincoln created controversy with his Temperance Address which he delivered in a church on Fourth Street in February 1842. He unexpectedly married Mary Todd in her sister's home on the edge of Springfield later that year. The Lincolns' sons used to harness dogs and cats to small wagons and drive them around the dirt streets of town. When Lincoln visited his dentist he applied his own chloroform because the practice of analgesia was not yet common. He reportedly played the ball game Fives in a downtown alley while waiting for news of his presidential nomination. And boxing heavyweight champion John C. Heenan visited the presidential candidate in October 1860. Through texts, historic photographs and images and maps including one keyed to the story locations in downtown Springfield, readers of this fascinating volume are invited to imagine social and cultural landscapes that have been lost in time.

Lincoln as I Knew Him Harold Holzer, 1999-10. Gossip, tributes and revelations about the president from both his best friends and his worst enemies are collected in this revealing insider's look at Lincoln.

Lincoln's Road to War David Alan Johnson, 2025-12-16. Follow Lincoln's day by day path from peacemaker to war leader as the Union edges toward Civil War. The months after the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln between March 4 and May 3, 1861, mark one of the most significant periods in American history. Antagonism between the North and South, which had been intensifying since Lincoln's election as president in November 1860, only worsened when the president-elect was sworn into office. Lincoln's Road to War is a day by day account unpacking each day's events, both personal and political, from Lincoln's inauguration through the attack on Fort Sumter and towards the march to the Battle of Bull Run/Manassas, March 4, 1861. In his inauguration address, President Lincoln did his best to be reconciliatory, advising Southern secessionists that there would be no war unless they were the aggressors. But he also made it clear that the Union was indivisible and that secession meant anarchy. April 12, 1861. During the early morning hours, rebel artillery opened fire on Fort Sumter, situated on a man-made island in the entrance to Charleston Harbor, South Carolina. This was immediately followed by President Lincoln's call for 75,000 volunteers from state militias along with his order to blockade all Southern ports. From the first days of his Presidency to a tacit admission of the real probability of war on May 3, 1861, readers follow alongside Lincoln in this daily journal that captures his evolution from an inexperienced newly installed president trying desperately to avoid a war to a reluctant commander in chief resolved to defend Fort Sumter against rebel aggression and finally to a war president determined to see the fighting through to the end and to restore the Union. In this revealing and enlightening journey through the progression of Lincoln's perspectives and politics, readers glean intimate insights into the President, the man, and the country on the precipice of Civil War.

The Lincolns in the White House Jerrold M. Packard, 2006-12-12. Reveals how divisions within the Lincoln family mirrored the struggles of the nation, describing First Lady Mary Lincoln's mental collapse.
