Encouraging Low-impact-development Stormwater-management Practices James Edward Brown, 2005 Regulatory codes and ordinances create a framework that guide stormwater management decision processes These regulations are designed to protect the health and safety of the public and to preserve the natural integrity of the environment Using a case study approach in Acton Massachusetts a two part examination is performed The first is a comprehensive review of Acton s developmental code and ordinances The second part of the study is a site redevelopment design using LID technologies for site level stormwater management To facilitate the regulatory review a code and ordinance worksheet COW developed by The Center for Watershed Protection CWP was used to evaluate Acton s regulations against the CWP s twenty two model development principles Acton s score was then compared to previously completed worksheets from eighteen other eastern seaboard communities The Discovery Museums a children s museum in Acton was chosen for the site redevelopment The museum expressed a desire to remove an existing parking area and reconfigure another lot to absorb the displaced spaces The EPA s Low Impact Development Design Strategies manual was used to guide the museum site planning and design development The design evaluation included comprehensive hydrologic and water quality analyses to determine pre and post development performance The results of the regulatory review demonstrate that Acton s existing developmental codes and ordinances do not presently encourage LID practices and have only a 62% agreement with the CWP model development principles The museum site redevelopment design proves that site level stormwater management technologies can be incorporated into the site landscape and be used to return the site s hydrologic volume rate and water quality to a pre developed condition
