Empirical Techniques in Finance Ramaprasad Bhar, Shigeyuki Hamori, 2005-12-28 This book offers the opportunity to study and experience advanced empirical techniques in finance and in general financial economics. It is not only suitable for students with an interest in the field; it is also highly recommended for academic researchers as well as the researchers in the industry. The book focuses on the contemporary empirical techniques used in the analysis of financial markets and how these are implemented using actual market data. With an emphasis on implementation, this book helps focusing on strategies for rigorously combining finance theory and modeling technology to extend extant considerations in the literature. The main aim of this book is to equip the readers with an array of tools and techniques that will allow them to explore financial market problems with a fresh perspective. In this sense, it is not another volume in econometrics. Of course, the traditional econometric methods are still valid and important; the contents of this book will bring in other related modeling topics that help more in depth exploration of finance theory and putting it into practice. As seen in the derivatives analysis, modern finance theory requires a sophisticated understanding of stochastic processes. The actual data analyses also require new statistical tools that can address the unique aspects of financial data. To meet these new demands, this book explains diverse modeling approaches with an emphasis on the application in the field of finance.

Advances in Battery Manufacturing, Service, and Management Systems Jingshan Li, Shiyu Zhou, Yehui Han, 2016-10-24 Addresses the methodology and theoretical foundation of battery manufacturing service and management systems (BM2S2) and discusses the issues and challenges in these areas. This book brings together experts in the field to highlight the cutting edge research advances in BM2S2 and to promote an innovative integrated research framework responding to the challenges. There are three major parts included in this book: manufacturing service and management. The first part focuses on battery manufacturing systems including modeling, analysis, design, and control, as well as economic and risk analyses. The second part focuses on information technology's impact on service systems such as data-driven reliability modeling, failure prognosis, and service decision-making methodologies for battery services. The third part addresses battery management systems (BMS) for control and optimization of battery cells, operations, and hybrid storage systems to ensure overall performance and safety, as well as EV management. The contributors consist of experts from universities, industry research centers, and government agencies. In addition, this book provides comprehensive overviews of lithium-ion battery and battery electrical vehicle manufacturing, as well as economic returns and government support. It introduces integrated models for quality propagation and productivity improvement, as well as indicators for bottleneck identification and mitigation in battery manufacturing. It covers models and diagnosis algorithms for battery SOC and SOH estimation, data-driven prognosis algorithms for predicting the remaining useful life (RUL) of battery SOC and SOH. It presents mathematical models and novel structures of battery equalizers in battery management systems (BMS). It reviews the state of the art of battery supercapacitor and battery supercapacitor hybrid energy storage systems (HESSs) for advanced electric vehicle applications Advances in Battery Manufacturing Services and Management Systems is written for researchers and engineers working on battery manufacturing service operations logistics and management It can also serve as a reference for senior undergraduate and graduate students interested in BM2S2 Optimal Financial Decision Making under Uncertainty Giorgio Consigli, Daniel Kuhn, Paolo Brandimarte, 2016-10-17 The scope of this volume is primarily to analyze from different methodological perspectives similar valuation and optimization problems arising in financial applications aimed at facilitating a theoretical and computational integration between methods largely regarded as alternatives Increasingly in recent years financial management problems such as strategic asset allocation asset liability management as well as asset pricing problems have been presented in the literature adopting formulation and solution approaches rooted in stochastic programming robust optimization stochastic dynamic programming including approximate SDP methods as well as policy rule optimization heuristic approaches and others The aim of the volume is to facilitate the comprehension of the modeling and methodological potentials of those methods thus their common assumptions and peculiarities relying on similar financial problems The volume will address different valuation problems common in finance related to asset pricing optimal portfolio management risk measurement risk control and asset liability management The volume features chapters of theoretical and practical relevance clarifying recent advances in the associated applied field from different standpoints relying on similar valuation problems and as mentioned facilitating a mutual and beneficial methodological and theoretical knowledge transfer The distinctive aspects of the volume can be summarized as follows Strong benchmarking philosophy with contributors explicitly asked to underline current limits and desirable developments in their areas Theoretical contributions aimed at advancing the state of the art in the given domain with a clear potential for applications The inclusion of an algorithmic computational discussion of issues arising on similar valuation problems across different methods Variety of applications rarely is it possible within a single volume to consider and analyze different and possibly competing alternative optimization techniques applied to well identified financial valuation problems Clear definition of the current state of the art in each methodological and applied area to facilitate future research directions Strategic System Assurance and Business Analytics P.
