

Informal Tax Guide

SOL

Special Use Valuation

Special Use Valuation (SUV) is a tax election that allows a taxpayer to value certain real property for estate tax purposes based on its use as a farm, timberland, or other agricultural or recreational property. This election can significantly reduce the value of the property for estate tax purposes, thereby reducing the overall tax liability of the estate. The election is available to taxpayers who own property that is used for agricultural, timber, or other special purposes and who have a long-term interest in the property. The value of the property is determined based on its fair market value as if it were used for its special purpose, rather than its highest and best use. This can result in a substantial reduction in the value of the property for estate tax purposes, especially in cases where the property is used for a special purpose that is not its highest and best use. The election is made on the estate tax return and is subject to certain requirements and limitations. It is important to consult with a tax professional to determine if this election is appropriate for your situation.
