

Overview

Former poet laureate Rita Dove's "Fifth Grade Autobiography" is a lyrical recollection of a memory from early childhood. The presence of a family photograph inspires the memory, and the imagined school assignment of the title frames the poem as an autobiography of the speaker.

The poem first appeared in Dove's fourth collection, 1989's Grace Notes. Though not as well-known as other poems such as "Thomas and Beulah" and "Adolescence I," "Adolescence II," and "Adolescence III," "Fifth Grade Autobiography" contains similar themes of family and remembrance. The poem plays with notions of time as the speaker presents the poem as a recollection from fifth grade, while also relating the emotions in the poem to a time period beyond the photograph. In particular, "Fifth Grade Autobiography" crystallizes a memory of the speaker's grandfather, who has died.

Poet Biography

Rita Dove was born in Akron, Ohio, in 1957. Although a reader even as a child, she credits her parents with instilling in her the desire to read books of all kinds. In high school, she was one of 100 top students named as U.S. Presidential Scholars, and she went on to study at Miami University of Ohio, where she graduated summa cum laude. After Dove won a Fulbright scholarship, she studied German at the University of Tübingen in Germany, before returning to the U.S. to complete an MFA in poetry from the prestigious Iowa Writers Workshop.

Her first collection of poems, Yellow House on the Corner, was published in 1980, which she followed with more than ten more collections in the years since. Most notably, her verse novel Thomas and Beulah won the Pulitzer Prize in 1995 and was staged as an opera in 2001. A later collection, On the Bus with Rosa Parks, was a finalist for the National Book Critics Circle Award in 1999. In addition to poetry, Dove has written a wide range of fiction and plays, and she has served as a lyricist for a number of composers. She edited the Penguin Anthology of 20th-Century American Poetry, which appeared in 2011, and her Collected Poems: 1974-2004 was a finalist for the National Book Award in 2015.
