INTRODUCTION

BRIEF BIOGRAPHY OF CARL HAASEN

Haasen grew up in a rural suburb of Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The eldest of four children, he began writing at age six when he received a typewriter for Christmas. Upon graduating high school, Haasen attended several Florida colleges, where he contributed humor columns to the school newspapers while earning a degree in journalism. In 1976, after briefly working for YOOP in Cocoa, Florida, the Miami Herald hired him. He became an opinion columnist for the paper in 1983, a position he held until he retired in 2011. In the 1980s, Haasen began writing humorous crime thrillers, first in collaboration with a colleague and then on his own. Hoot, published in 2002, was his first novel for young adults and was named a Newbery Honor Book. Nearly all of his novels take place in Florida, where he still lives, and many have environmental themes.

HISTORICAL CONTEXT

The burrowing owl, whose subspecies in Florida's smallest owl, stands on average about nine inches tall. Though globally and federally the burrowing owl is either not listed or endangered species lists or is listed as "least concern" (that is, population levels are high, the state of Florida has designated the owl as "endangered" as Roy and his friends discover in Hoot, this is primarily due to habitat loss—the owls live in flat, open grassy areas that are also often converted to residential development). And when humans live in close proximity to nesting burrows, domesticated animals (and sometimes even people) often dig and harass the birds. Florida requires prospective developers to apply for permits and have site surveys done of prospective building sites, and they also must hire developers to follow the Migratory Bird Treaty Act. This federal act, which was initially passed in 1924, prohibits killing, capturing, selling, and transporting protected bird species without permission from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

RELATED LITERARY WORKS

Critics note that Hoot, Haasen's first novel for young readers, shares many similarities with his satirical crime thrillers for adults, including Windy Day, Hot Paper, and Deep Snow. All of Haasen's novels take place in Florida, just like Hoot, many also tackle environmentalism and political corruption. Following Hoot, Haasen wrote several young adult novels that follow much the same format (Flunk, Sue, Champ, Sink – No Survival, and Surreal), though these have achieved quite the success that Hoot did. Other novels for young readers that share similar environmental themes include The Lorain of Oklawaha County Farmer, introduced by Suzanne Godwin, and Flight or Fight by David Foster. For adults and older readers, books as varied as Avatar, Orion's The Mercury Tale, Kate Beaton's graphic memoir Quarto, and Kazuo Ishiguro's When We Were Born all explore the complex relationships between human development, the environment, and culture's promotion of conservation efforts. Within the novel itself, Roy reads A Land Remembered, a 1984 historical fiction novel by Patrick D. Smith. It follows a family for about a century, through three generations, as the family grows the Florida wilderness.
