

Activity 10

Reading: Genetic Variation in Cornelian Worksho and genetic variation in genetics (complete each of the following questions, demonstrating your understanding of the concepts discussed in the lecture)

1. Match each of the following changes in DNA sequence structure to its definition:

A. Deletion

B. Duplication

C. Inversion

D. Translocation

(a. a section of a chromosome is inserted)

(b. a piece of a chromosome is deleted)

(c. a segment of one chromosome has moved (inverted) to a different, non-homologous chromosome)

(d. a section of a chromosome appears to be in two places at a time)

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with four chromosomes pairs? Describe your answer.

Match the number of genetically different gametes that can be produced to each of 2<sup>n</sup> where n is total number chromosomes pairs, a diploid cell with four chromosomes pairs can produce gametes of 16 or 32 genetically different gametes

3. Although you will learn a mechanism of mutation that causes gene mutations, you recognize that some mutations cause the loss of function of a protein. For example, both color and eye color alleles often have loss of function together?

Both mutations resulted together and found on the same chromosome. Therefore, they are recessive mutations together, and a heterozygous-diploid only shows either nonfunctional chromosome from both will be found with some of the alleles in the genome, usually, mutations they will be inherited together.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write the equations:

Homologous chromosomes I homologous pairing and homologous chromosomes align together, called synapsis. This is a synapsis because it shows the pairing between sister and results in two double chromosomes.

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomes with recombinant alleles? Describe how types of genetic variation that can result from recombination.
